"The purpose of the organization shall be to unify the Jewish population of Beaver Valley, and to establish a suitable Center for the furtherance of Jewish community life through educational, charitable, spiritual, cultural and social activities in accordance with Jewish ideals."

Resolved at meeting of UNITED JEWISH COMMUNITY on JULY 12, 1955.

A Short History Of The United Jewish Community

It had long been a dream and a hope of many Beaver Valley residents that some day this area would be blessed with a Jewish community center. A building, which by providing facilities for all local functions and activities would tend to draw the people closer together and thus to foster the growth of Judaism.

In the spring of 1955, Jacob Venger called together an informal gathering at his home to discuss the problem. This was the beginning. On June 28, 1955, the first formal meeting was held at the Council Community House. At the second meeting on October 4, 1955, a slate of officers was elected, headed by Dr. Irving Bennett as president.

The site committee, after much investigation and numerous rejections by the community, finally recommended the present Chippewa Township location. On January 2, 1957, this recommendation was accepted and the property was purchased. In the fall of 1957, the building committee, chairmaned by Milton Farkas, commissioned Nathan Cantor of Pittsburgh to design the structure.

The signing of the charter occurred at the Charter Night Banquet on December 8, 1957 at the Brodhead Hotel. The architect's plans and the contracting bid of Massa Brothers, Inc., were accepted on October 26, 1958. In November of that same year, the official groundbreaking ceremony took place. The laying of the cornerstone was held on August 9, 1959. On this occasion, many documents of local historical significance were permanently encased in the wall of the building.

The Board of Directors was informed that the building would be ready for occupancy on December 31, 1959. Thus a gala New Year's Eve celebration was planned. This dance, co-sponsored by the United Jewish Community and the local B'nai B'rith lodge, proved to be one of the most outstanding affairs in the annals of Beaver Valley Jewry.

Now that the Center is a reality, it is the earnest desire of all, that it will serve to promote and engender the lofty aims and ideals for which it was originally organized.

. . . Home For Religious, Cultural, Social,

Educational Facilities

The Hebrew Religious School, under the auspices of the Beaver Valley United Jewish Community, convenes on Sunday mornings from 10 A.M. until 12 Noon. Ten modern classrooms have adequate seating and all necessary safety precautions, such as ready exits, fire alarm and emergency lighting systems. The Agudath Achim Hebrew School is able to utilize the same classrooms on weekdays. An activity room with library provisions for adult education sessions is provided.

Teen-Age Facilities

To provide a healthy, creative environment for our youth, this building became a necessity . . . and a reality. A special Teen-Age Room serves as a Lounge, a place for meetings, and for social gatherings. The multi-purpose room contains an adequate stage for all dramatic productions. Shower rooms for both boys and girls are available. Soon the multi-purpose room will be equipped as a regulation basketball court.

Religious Facilities

An aura of dignified spiritual beauty pervades the large Sanctuary which now houses the Agudath Achim Congregation. About 220 people can be comfortably seated; an additional 500 can be accommodated by utilizing the social hall. A smaller Sanctuary is ready for a second congregation, and this room seats 125 people. It is ideal for daily services. The Rabbi's Study is conveniently located near the entrance of the building.

First social affair at the Center was the New Year's Dance co-sponsored by the United Jewish Community and B'nai B'rith.

Educational and Philanthropic Life

Social Facilities

Dances, dinners, Bar Mitzvah receptions, concerts, lectures, donor affairs, and theatrical productions may be held in the multi-purpose social hall. An adjacent kosher kitchen is equipped to serve 400 people. The Center Court is accessible through glass doors leading from the Lounge.

Meeting Facilities

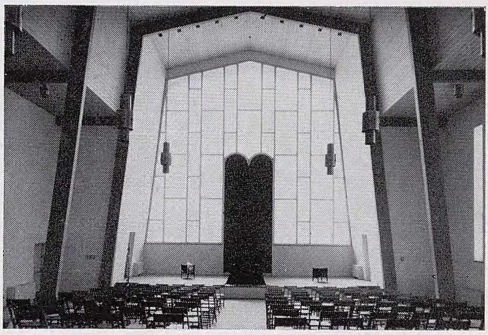

Adequate meeting room facilities have been provided for all organizations. The multi-purpose room serves large audience functions and seats 500; the Ladies Lounge seats 50; the B'nai B'rith Room (Men's Lounge) seats 40; individual classrooms are ideal for committee meetings; and the combination classroom section comfortably seats 125 people by utilizing the folding doors. The teen-agers, of course, have their own meeting room.

General Facilities

The Center is conveniently located in Chippewa Township where Darlington Road runs into Highway 51, making the site readily accessible to upper and lower Valley traffic. There is parking on the site for at least 100 cars and additional parking space is planned. There are two separate amplifying systems—one for the main sanctuary and stage; the other, centered in the Rabbi's office, with outlets in each classroom. Two separate heating units permit the heating of the classroom-meeting section or the sanctuary-social hall section independently.

The Men's Club holds its Sunday breakfast meetings in the Center's Lounge. The Lounge opens up into the spacious Social Room.

A typical shot of the main sanctuary. An attractive aluminum grill covers the tinted glass front, creating an impressive site.

Missing: Mrs. Rae Cable, Mrs. Abe Cohen, Auditors.

When the new United Jewish Community Center finally left the world of blueprints and emerged a shining and beautiful actuality in brick and concrete, the need for "the woman's touch" was recognized.

On October 6, 1959, in answer to a request from Dr. Irving Bennett, president of the United Jewish Community, a meeting was held in the vestry rooms of the Agudath Achim Synagogue for the purpose of organizing a women's organization. Prior to this, those who were members of the Agudath Achim Sisterhood had signified their intention of joining forces with the new group. Dr. Bennett presided and Mrs. Morris Flam was elected president. At this same meeting, the title United Jewish Community Women's Auxiliary was chosen as the official designation for the fledgling organization.

In the weeks that followed, a constitution was drawn up and committees were created. It was agreed that the objects and purposes of the Women's Auxiliary would be to implement the activities of the United Jewish Community in the following manner: by fostering and supporting Jewish religious education; by cooperating with the parent organization in giving financial support where needed; by promoting any religious group affiliated with the Center; by the support of cultural expressions of Jewish living and by assisting the Rabbi in the Hebrew School and any other necessary projects.

. . . Beaver Valley B'nai B'rith

B'nai B'rith is the oldest and largest Jewish service organization in the United States and throughout the world. Its history dates back to the year 1843. Over this period it has developed a significant program of activities which affects every member of the American Jewish community. Such projects as the B'nai B'rith Youth Organization, the Anti-Defamation League, Hillel, and Vocational Guidance Service, are but a few of the outstanding contributions of the Order.

Beaver Valley Lodge No. 777 was activated on June 12, 1921 with 35 members. Of this charter group, those still residing in the community are Meyer Berkman, Harry Markson, David Rosenblatt, Newton Samuels, Ellis Saul, and Sheppard Wasbutsky.

Until 1947, the meetings and other functions were held at various rented locations throughout the City of Beaver Falls. At that time the Lodge Rooms on 16th Street were purchased. With the advent of the United Jewish Community, the membership decided to utilize the Center facilities including the room which had been designed for B'nai B'rith's use.

Throughout its existence the Beaver Valley B'nai B'rith has endeavored to present to the community at large, as well as to its own membership, a meaningful program of cultural, service and social activities. And with the greatly improved facilities which are now available, Lodge No. 777 plans to expand its scope of activities in order that it may be of greater service to the entire Beaver Valley community.

. . . Council of Jewish Women

The National Council of Jewish Women, founded in 1893, is an organization which, in the spirit of Judaism, is dedicated to furthering human welfare in the Jewish and general communities, locally, nationally, and internationally. Through an integrated program of education, service, and social action, it provides essential services and stimulates and educates the individual and the community toward their responsibility in advancing human welfare and the democratic way of life.

The Beaver Valley Section, National Council of Jewish Women, the first women's organization in Beaver Valley, was organized in June, 1917, with Miss Nettie Silverman as its first president. The only charter members still in the community are Miss Nettie Silverman, Mrs. Harry Markson and Mrs. Charles Mann.

In 1927, the Beaver Valley Section of Council became a member of the Beaver County Federation of Women's Clubs. In the summer of 1928, the Council Community House was purchased and remodeled. Following its dedication in November of that same year, it became the center for most local Jewish activities.

The Beaver Valley Section of Council, until recently, had sponsored the Beaver Valley Hebrew Religious School. It also assisted in organizing the Beaver County Mental Health Society, and has always participated in the various Community drives, surveys and youth projects.

. . . Agudath Achim Congregation

At the turn of the century, a number of local Jewish people made application for a charter to form a Hebrew congregation. The signers of the petition were: Asher Hanauer, Max Solomon, William Pfeifke, Moses Solomon and Morris Gordon.

The charter for the designated Agudath Achim Congregation was granted by Judge J. Sharp Wilson, with the following charter members in addition to the above: Louis Wasbutsky, Nathan Rosenberg, Simon Berkman, Louis Wilkofsky, S. J. Rabinowitz, Mayer Solomon, Louis Maretsky, William Brown, Sam Feinberg, Joe Marcus, Julius Hostine, Max Feinberg, Peter Pettler, Barney Berkman, Abe Rosenberg, Ellis Saul and A. Broda. In 1906 the cemetery plot, situated in White and Patterson Townships, was secured.

In 1914 the Agudath Achim Synagogue located at Fifth Street and Sixth Avenue, was completed and dedicated. Thus was laid the foundation for a communal, religious and cultural center from which Beaver Falls and surrounding Jewry could receive its spiritual nourishment. With construction of the United Jewish Community Center in Chippewa Township, the Congregation voted to occupy the Sanctuary which had been made available, and at the same time maintain its Beaver Falls location.

. . . Beaver Valley Chapter, Hadassah

The women of Beaver Valley, for many years aware of their obligations to their less fortunate fellow Jews in Europe and Israel, contributed to Jewish National Fund and Palestine Supplies. After the holocaust in Europe, because of their stronger desire to give aid and succor to the homeless and persecuted, they embraced all the phases of Hadassah's noble program and thus the Beaver Valley Chapter of Hadassah was officially organized March 18, 1945.

Through Hadassah, we in Beaver Valley feel a kinship with 318,000 other members in 1300 chapters in 49 states and also Puerto Rico. Together we help cure the sick, feed the children, educate the youth, train the younger generation, buy land and help reforest the hillsides of Israel. Through Hadassah we get to know more of our Jewish heritage, learn more about the struggle for democracy here and abroad, and interpret Israel to our neighbors and friends.

By accepting our share of responsibility as Americans, as Jews, and as Zionists, members of Hadassah find a channel for positive participation in the task of helping to build a better life wherever free men live. We must never forget that Israel is the outpost of democracy in the Middle East. As America prospers and as the State of Israel grows, so do we, in stature and in morale. To this task the women of Hadassah are dedicated.

. . . Zionist Organization of America

Officers, Zionist Organization of America. Standing left to right, Joseph Epstein, Treasurer; Rabbi David Shapiro, Corres. Secy.; and Harry Falkinson, Recording Secy. Seated, Maurice Reich, 2nd Vice-Pres.; Harry Braun, President; Harry Markson Honorary Pres.; and Jacob Venger, 1st Vice-Pres.

The Beaver Valley Zionist District dates back to the early part of the century, according to Harry Markson, Founder and Honorary President of the organization. Some of the small group, "Lovers of Zion", who were instrumental in forming a Zionist movement in Beaver Valley were: Meyer Solomon, Moses Solomon, Leib Wilkofsky and Louis Washutsky.

The Zionist Organization of America took an active part in the establishment of the State of Israel in 1948. Beaver Valley District feels deeply proud of the role it has played in this momentous achievement, through its moral and financial support.

The aims and ideals of the Zionist Credo are implemented in the local program. Under its present leadership, the organization maintains a sizable membership, conducts cultural activities and supports the efforts of the national ZOA in its two great projects in Israel: namely, Kfar Silver, an American chartered argricultural School, and the ZOA House in Tel Aviv, a center from which American cultural and educational information are disseminated to Israel's population. It also participates actively in United Jewish Appeal efforts and Bonds for Irsael.

In recent years the local Zionist organization has undertaken an ambitious project for the establishment of a Beaver Valley Nachla through the Jewish National Fund in Israel which will forge a link between the two countries for posterity.

. . . Men's Club, Agudath Achim

The Men's Club of the Agudath Achim Congregation was organized on October 19, 1947. Rabbi Samuel Prager, the spiritual leader at this time, was quite instrumental in the formation of the group. The first officers were William Levenson, president; Maurice Levin, vice-president and secretary; and Milton Farkas, treasurer.

The purpose of the Men's Club was to stimulate a spiritual reawakening in the community. The organization sought to revitalize and to arouse interest in the activities of the Congregation. These goals were realized through the serving of a breakfast and the presentation of a program following the traditional religious service each Sunday morning. These programs have consisted of outstanding speakers, panel discussions, and films.

One of the highlights in the history of the organization was the Tenth Anniversary Banquet on January 13, 1957. Since then, the Club has instituted special yearly observances in honor of its founders, outstanding Hebrew school students, the ladies who assisted the social committee with the weekly breakfasts, and many other noteworthy groups and events. In addition, a plan has been initiated for awarding Junior Congregational memberships to all Bar-Mitzvah boys.

In reviewing the activities of the organization, it is truly gratifying to note its eager acceptance by the community. The Men's Club has taken its place as an essential element in our daily Jewish life.

. . . Beaver Valley A. Z. A.

Beaver Valley A.Z.A. No. 117 received its charter on October 21, 1929. This was only five years after the Supreme Lodge of B'nai B'rith had undertaken the sponsorship of AZA as a national project.

The keystone of AZA is its "Five Fold and Full" program consisting of social activities. Through participation in each of these phases of programming, the individual Aleph is exposed to the various segments of daily community life.

The Beaver Valley chapter has always been an active group on the local scene as well as on AZA council and district levels. It is truly a training ground for future leaders.

. . . Beaver Valley B. B. G.

The first B'nai B'rith Girls chapter was organized in Seattle, Washington on March 9, 1926. However, it was not until 1944 that BBG was recognized as a national group by the B'nai B'rith Supreme Lodge. In 1941, the Beaver Valley chapter was granted its charter, and Rose Blinn Caplan was elected as the first president.

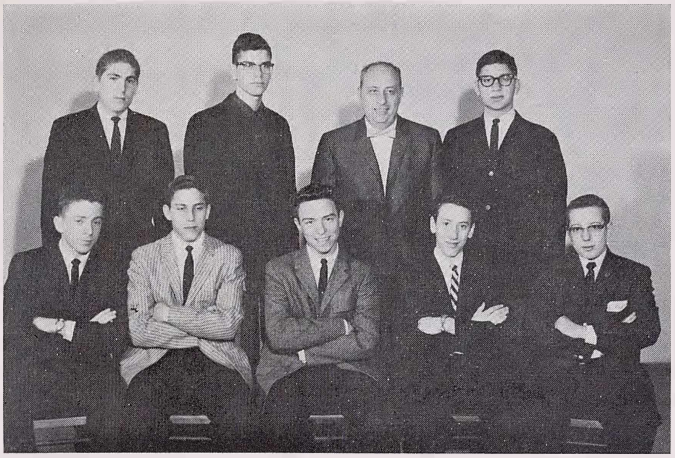

The B'nai B'rith Youth Organization strives to create in young people a synthesis of the best in our Jewish and our American heritage. This is achieved through a program of cultural, social, religious, interfaiths, and social welfare activities, planned and executed by the girls themselves.

. . . Beaver Valley Young Judea

Young Judaea is the largest Zionist Youth Group in the United States. It is sponsored by Hadassah and the Zionist Organization of America, through the American Zionist Youth Commission. The Beaver Valley Chapter, Tel Chai, has always been an active group in our local community.

Young Judaea's purpose is to nurture succeeding generations in our ways and traditions. It seeks to provide its members with the knowledge and activity leading toward identity with the Jewish People.

Judaeans function democratically and learn by doing. Through a stimulating pattern of educational and recreational programs, the aims and ideals of the organization are achieved.

The original Charter of the Tree of Life Congregation, Rochester, Pennsylvania, was filed in the Beaver County Courthouse on November 26, 1927. The cornerstone of the present building was set into place in May of the following year. An elaborate Dedication Ceremony was held on Sunday, September 9th, 1928. The first president of the Congregation, Mr. I. I. Ecker, was quite instrumental in organizing and coordinating the activities of the group.

The aims of the organization are clearly set out in the by-laws: "Its purpose shall be to establish and maintain a place of religious, worship and a community center to cater to the religious, the social, the educational and the recreational needs of the Jewish people of Rochester, Monaca and Freedom".

Working hand in hand with the men of the Congregation is the Sisterhood. The first president was Miss Nettie Silverman. This small group of dedicated women has always been of great assistance whenever called upon.

To Our Many Friends

We express sincere appreciation and gratitude for the generous support of our dedication program by so many of our neighbors, friends and colleagues. It is through their kindness and generosity that we have been able to plan such an ambitious enterprise as the United Jewish Community Center.

We hope that all will find satisfaction in the fact that they have played a part in furthering the development of spiritual values in Beaver Valley.

"Massa Builds Better Walls"

We were happy to have been selected as general contractors for this project.

Industrial progress is autoclaves, test tubes, distillation towers . . . hydro-carbons, heterocyclic compounds . . . processes, polymerizations, products.

But mostly, industrial progress is thinking—hundreds of hours of thinking—by young men, older men . . . men who work in white frock coats, blue serge and denim . . . by men with BA's and PHD's, by men whose formal education stopped with a high school diploma.

These are thinking men . . . reasoning out new products, new ways to better products, new ways to use them. They're thinking of ways to give you more comfort, more convenience, better health.

Always, there are old things to be improved, new things to be developed. It takes thinking . . . and then more thinking. The thinking never stops. And so progress never stops.

It's that way at Koppers.

WHAT'S NEW at the new J&L

The first major technological breakthrough in steelmaking since before 1900—the basic oxygen process—is new. And, J&L is the first of the major integrated steel companies in the United States to produce steel by this new method.

Key to this revolutionary process is the single jet of high-purity oxygen that blasts through a slender, hollow steel lance to the surface of the bath of molten iron. It forces an instantaneous thermochemical reaction that refines iron to steel in a matter of minutes.

Your Town...

...Our Beat!

Wherever you live in Beaver County, a city, a borough, a township, there's something happening that other people want to know or need to know. It may be alarming or it may be unusual. It may have an immediate effect on your life or it may not affect you for many years.

But it's news!

And because it's news, it's important to us and to all our readers, and you can be sure one of our reporters will get the complete story for everyone to read. It's our job.

Your town is our beat!

Main Sanctuary

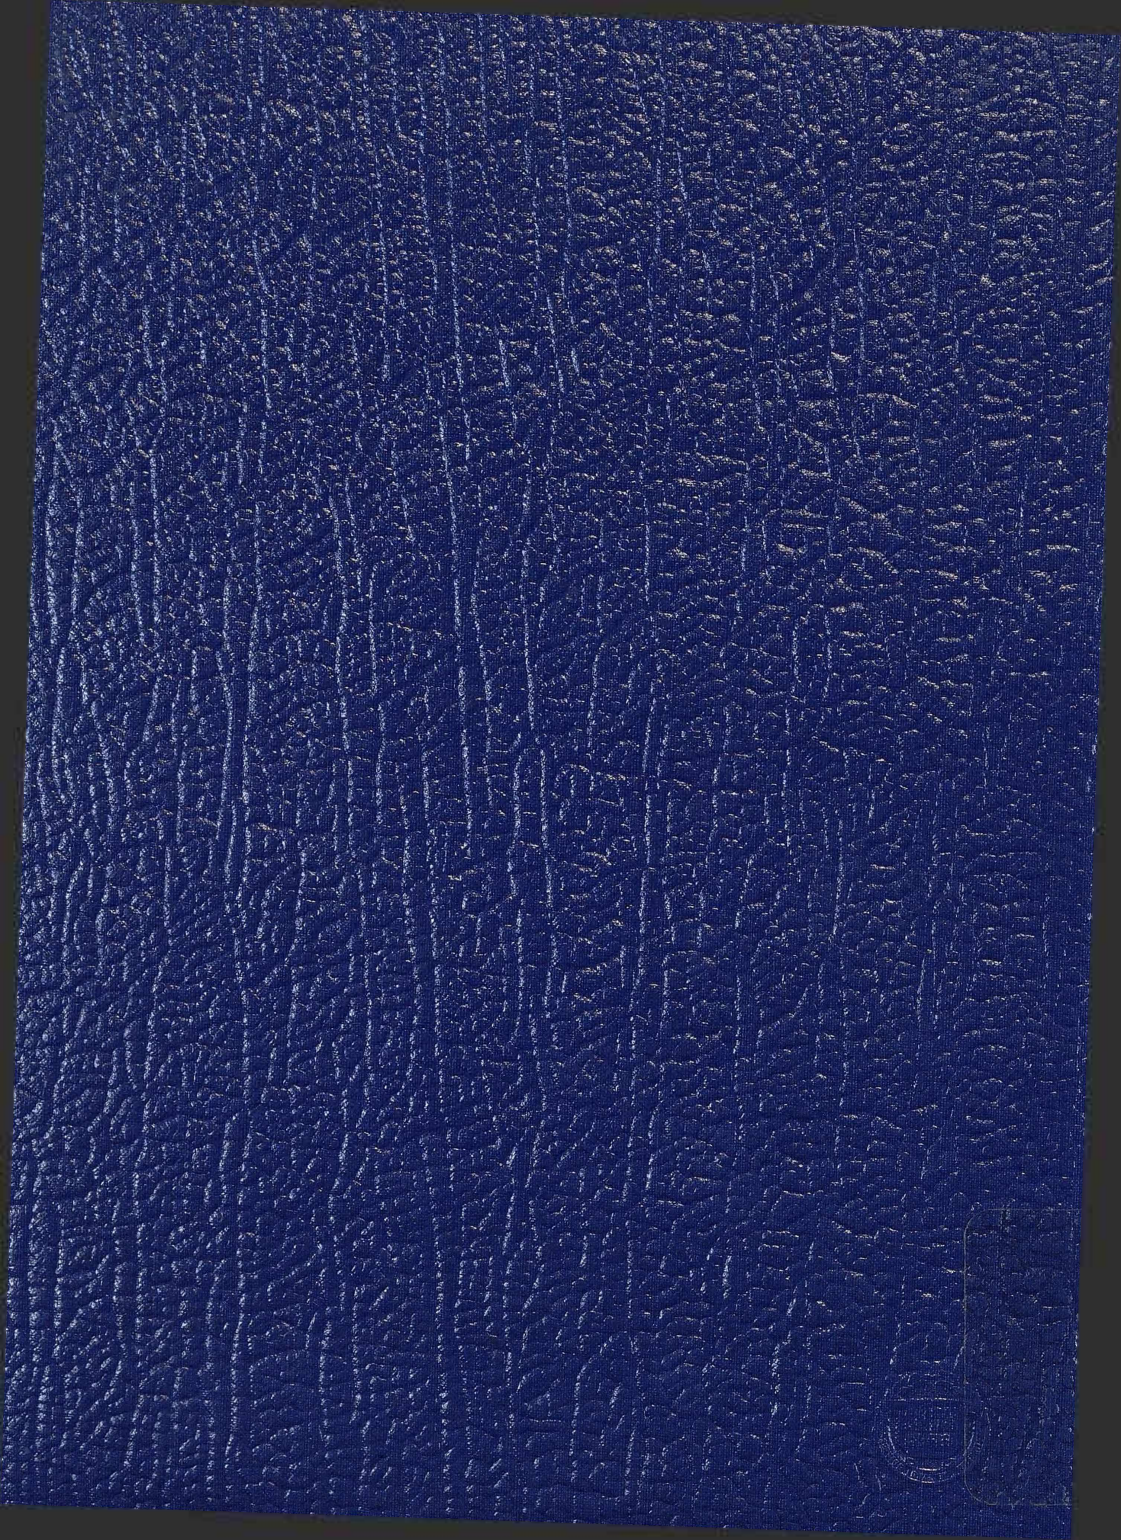

United Jewish Community Center

The Main Sanctuary seats 220 people comfortably. The adjacent social hall, separated by a folding partition, can accommodate an additional 500 people. The floor slopes to the Ark centered on the pulpit platform before a beautiful background of aluminum and glass. Another sanctuary is available for a second congregation.

The formal presentation of the Scrolls of the Law on January 10, 1960 by the Agudath Achim Congregation heralded the initial religious function at the Center.
