For the Baby that cannot have Breast Milk

GLAXO is a safe food from birth, for it is in no sense an artificial food, but is entirely composed of the best of pure, fresh milk enriched with extra cream and milk-sugar—by the Glaxo Process made easily digestible and germ-free.

The total absence of starch, malt, preservatives, colouring matter, or indeed of anything foreign to pure milk; the high proportion of fat contained; its digestibility; and its freedom from contamination or the risk of milk-conveyed tuberculosis and other complaints; are points which have won for Glaxo the immediate approval of medical men, health authorities, nurses and mothers.

A Doctor says: "Glaxo in its present form is better than any other Infant food on the market." If Baby is fed on Glaxo, the condition of the local milk supply is of no consequence, since Glaxo being itself milk and cream in dry form is instantly prepared by mixing with boiling water only.

96-page Glaxo Baby Book—FREE.

A doctor, a chemist, and a nurse of great experience have collaborated to make this book the most useful of its kind. Valuable hints and the best information that can be gathered from recent medical and clinical experience and research are here set forth in language which every mother can understand. The complaints to which all childhood is liable are comprehensively dealt with and the book generally is one that every mother should have at hand for immediate reference. It will gladly be sent you FREE on receipt of a postcard.

GRAND MATINEE

APRIL 15th, 1915.

THE many High-class Firms whose names appear in this Programme have kindly given substantial aid.

It is suggested that as the list will be very useful, comprising as it does the names of many excellent houses, it should be retained for reference.

Purity and Security.

All drugs supplied by Boots have to answer every known test for purity, or they are rigidly rejected. Over a thousand analyses are made every month, and the tests imposed are not merely those of the British Pharmacopœia, but tests far more stringent than those required by the British Pharmacopœia. As "Truth" states in reviewing the business of Boots Pure Drug Co., Ltd., "A passion for purity is displayed in regard to every article."

And though purity is vitally important, freshness is almost equally so. Medicine made up of stale drugs cannot possibly be of maximum efficiency. You cannot even be certain that it is medicinally active. Owing to the careful system of checking the supplies at their 555 Branches it is practically impossible to obtain stale drugs at Boots. The stocks at all their establishments are periodically tested and any drug showing the least sign of deterioration immediately destroyed.

Your own security depends upon the purity and freshness of the drugs you purchase.

AN ACKNOWLEDGMENT

THE COMMITTEE take this opportunity of placing on record their high appreciation to MR. OSWALD STOLL for his generosity in placing the Theatre at their disposal, and for securing the services of the many EMINENT ARTISTES, who have so kindly come to their assistance—often at the greatest possible inconvenience to themselves. Without this kindness the wonderful Programme which is placed before the Audience, would have been an impossibility.

They also desire to tender their grateful thanks to Mr. G. F. J. MCLEOD, Acting Manager, and the entire staff of the Theatre, for their much valued assistance, which has greatly contributed to the success of the matinee.

THE COMMITTEE also desire to place on record their sincerest thanks to the undermentioned, who have generously made the following presentations :—
