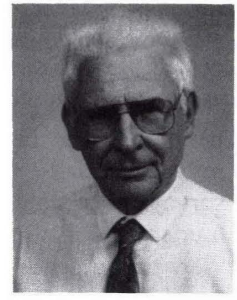
ON THE TRESHOLD OF THE THIRD MILLENIUM



The State of Israel has just now celebrated the 50th anniversary of its independence and we are marching toward the future with great hopes for peace, security and prosperity. The foundation of the Jewish state after two thousand years of exile and after the most horrible Holocaust that our people went through during the second world war, is the most exciting event in our history since we became a nation. But there is also no doubt, that the rise of Israel and its amazing achievements as a young state are one of the great most fascinating events of the 20th century, perhaps the most turbulent in the annals of mankind.

In the next millenium, when somebody will take from the bookshelf the volumes of "WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL" and turn over its pages – be it for purposes of research or perusal, or out of mere curiosity – he will find the names of the thousands of Israeli and Jewish personalities who have been in the center of the great social, political, economic and cultural upbuilding in the first fifty years of statehood. The essence of the lifestory of these personalities was published in their short biographies in our editions that appeared in the past fifty years and they tell the exciting story of our time.

23 editions in the English language and ten editions in the Hebrew language have so far appeared in our publishing house that marks presently 55 years of its existence. This is by itself a remarkable achievement: Over fifty years of uninterrupted publication – still from the days of the British rule in Palestine – first in English only, and later in Hebrew and English, alternately. This shows the continuity of our publishing house and is also a proof that the books of "WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL" fulfil their purpose. In the course of the years our editions have become a guide with a reputation, demanded in Israel as well as in the world.

The thousands of biographies of Israelis published in our book reflect the sparkling life of the State of Israel that can be felt in the stormy rhythm of construction in the country, in the rapid industrial development, especially of high-tech industries, in the advancement of science, in the amazing achievements of immigrants' absorption and in the yearned peace processes.

The editions in the English language include – in addition to Israeli personalities – hundreds of Jewish personalities in the world, who are prominent in the life of their communities and known for their sympathetic attitude toward Israel. These editions are distributed all over the world and among the Jewish communities in the Diaspora. The positive echo's that reach us, in letters and comments published in the Jewish press in the world, show the reputation and the great interest roused by of "WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL" abroad. The data in an Israeli information book, distributed all over the world, are of high importance and a strong echo is expected that pays dividends in view of the peace processes with our neighbors. This refers especially to the publicity part in this book (advertisements and surveys of economic enterprises, financial institutions, industrial enterprises, tourism, public institutions, Zionist organizations and municipalities) in view of the peace efforts with our neighbors in the region, in view of the opening of markets that were so far closed to Israel, and the expanding ties of our state with many countries in Europe and other places in the world.

We feel it is our special, most pleasant duty to thank all the respectable personalities who have congratulated us to the jubilee of the State and to the 55th anniversary of our publishing house – and above all to the Speaker of the Knesset Dan Tichon, the Mayor of Jerusalem, Adv. Ehud Olmert, the Governor of the Israel Bank Prof. Yaacov Fraenkel (their congratulations are published separately), and the dozens of other personalities – intellectuals, professors, writers, musicians, economists, statesmen and others. Lack of space prevents us from publishing their letters in full, for which we apologize. We are grateful to all of them and reciprocate their wishes. May they all enrich further our society with their blessed work. We hope to fulfil expectations, to persist in publishing and improving the future editions of "WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL AND JEWISH PERSONALITIES IN THE WORLD".

Dear Friends,

The fast pace of our lives prevents us from looking backwards so that we often forget the enormous achievements that are part of the success story called 'the State of Israel'.

Israel has advanced by leaps and bounds. Against all odds a small group of 650 thousand Jews declared the establishment of the State; friendly countries believed that our tiny state would not be a match for the invading armies of the Arab countries, threatening to chase the Jews into the sea.

Today, close to five million Jews live in Israel.

In the field of economics Israel has made impressive advances. From a poor country with a low per capita income, it has jumped to the list of the richest countries in the world.

Israel achieved economic growth, a high standard of living and education while, at the same time, an unprecedented number of Jews from around the world were absorbed in Israel. And still new immigrants continue to arrive.

The State of Israel has set up advanced health services, an exemplary judiciary system and sophisticated industrial and agricultural infrastructures. The Israeli high-tech industry has a broad knowledge base and is constantly being developed. The military industry laid the foundation of our military strength and has gained a world-wide reputation..

Science plays a major role in our state. The aspiration for quality is a sine qua non for progress.

All this was accomplished during a continuous struggle for survival. Hardly a decade has passed without a war throughout Israel's history.

Israeli democracy, which was created simultaneously with the establishment of the state has become an integral part of our society and has determined the basic principles which govern life in Israel.

However, there exists also a darker side to the Jubilee celebrations. Our dream of creating a genuine melting pot and of overcoming social gaps and polarity has not come true.

The chasm between the various ethnic groups, stemming from a changing social reality, is slowly narrowing. However the religious-secular dispute is becoming worse and threatens to cause a rift in our people.

Regrettably, tolerance has become a derogatory term, a synonym for weakness. I am convinced that the similarities between the various groups surmount their differences, otherwise we shall not be able to cope with the great national challenges facing the State of Israel at present.

I am convinced that dialogue is possible. The principle of 'live and let live' has to be carefully guarded.

The rift exists not only in Israel; it reflects on the Diaspora Jews who identify with the State of Israel.

Much still has to be accomplished in the field of security, society and economics. Israel still faces the danger of war and therefore has to maintain a strong army over the coming fifty years as well. We never have counted and never will rely on outside forces to protect us.

Peace, our main goal when we declared our state, has still not been achieved.

We believe that the time is approaching when the State of Israel can become an integral part of the Middle East, a time when there will be mutual recognition, a time when we will live in peace with our neighbours and with the Palestinian people.

Sincerely,

Tichon Dan

Dear Friend,

Jerusalem, the Eternal Undivided, Capital of Israel, is unique because of its tremendous spiritual significance to Jews Christians and Moslems throughout the world. Jerusalem is Israel's largest city with a population of approximately 600,000 inhabitants on more than 120,000 dunams. Major improvements have been made in the fields of infrastructure and transportation. Main artery roads which cross the city from East to west and North to South have recently been completed. Future projects include a light train system that will also cross the city and a quick train between Tel Aviv and Jerusalem. These projects aim at easing traffic density and facilitate mobility for workers to the plants and businessmen to offices.

Major hotel chains have been building new hotels in our city, with the help of the Municipality of Jerusalem and the Ministry of Tourism. We have no doubt that the addition of thousands of hotel rooms will encourage tourists and businessmen to visit the Capital. Moreover, the construction of new hotels will also enable the City to be ready for the millions of visitors and pilgrims expected to visit Jerusalem in the year 2000.

Jerusalem today is a modern metropolis whose residents never forget her long history. We have found a way of blending archeology and high-tech, and of welcoming successive generations of immigrants from all corners of the world into a society where communities maintain their own identity while contributing to the whole. We have all worked together to improve education, culture, and welfare for the good of our residents and our visitors. A visit to Jerusalem is a journey to one of the world's most intriguing cities; I invite all of your readers to our Capital.

Finally, I congratulate you on the latest edition of the "Who's who in Israel" book which offers valuable information and has become an indispensable tool.

Sincerely,
Ehud Olmert

Greeting letter from the Mayor of Jerusalem, Mr. Ehud Olmert

GREETING FROM PROF. JACOB FRENKEL

Governor of The Bank of Israel

Jerusalem, September 1, 1998

Israel's fiftieth anniversary reflects intelligence, determination and hard work of many people in Israel and abroad who have been creative in a wide variety of spheres of human endeavor for the good of the Jewish people and Israel in particular. These endeavors range from undertaking research in pure science to strengthening the economy and the social structure and furthering the cause of peace and security.

Who's Who in Israel and World Jewry, which is now in its 55th year of publication, illustrates that a large number of people who have contributed, and still continue to contribute, to achieving the common aim of developing and increasing prosperity in both Israel and the Diaspora.

The challenges facing Israel and the Diaspora as they stand on the threshold of the next fifty years remain considerable. We must continue to encourage the absorption of immigrants, bring Israel ever closer to economic stability and sustainable prosperity and work towards its successful integration in the process of globalization which the world economy is currently undergoing.

On the day when the State was proclaimed

Moshe Zak

I arrived at the Independence Proclamation ceremony in a taxi together with Pinhas Rosen and Behor Shalom Shitrit, who were appointed half an hour later Minister of Justice and Minister of Police in the Provisional Government of the state that was born that day, the 14th of May 1948.

We were five men in the hired taxi: the two cabinet ministers and three journalists (the famous American correspondent Quentin Reynold, Moshe Brilliant, who represented the "Jerusalem Post" and "New York Times", and I). We came from the Keren Kayemet building in Hermann Shapiro Street, where the last meeting of the People's Council took place, to approve the text of the Independence Declaration.

The taxi convoy stopped for a moment at the exit from Shapiro Street into Dizengoff Street. A cart driver who transported blocks of ice was ringing the bell to inform his clients that the time has come to supply themselves with ice toward Shabbat, and I remember this scene today. On the eve of the 50th jubilee celebrations I returned to this road junction. I was waiting there some time, but not a single ice-cart could be seen. The ice-boxes have disappeared from the Tel Aviv landscape. Today most inhabitants of the big city have electrical refrigerators.

The ice-blocks that disappeared may be an example for the changes in the Israeli living standard that have taken place in the course of 50 years. The average annual per capita income in Israel has risen to 16,000 dollars, ten times higher than in the neighboring states. The cooking gas burners and the oil stoves that were characteristic of the life of the pre-state generation are not used any more. The joint kitchen shared by two families in a two-rooms flat is an exception today. True, we all were singing "We came here to build and be built", but in those long moments on the day when the State was proclaimed nobody was thinking of his personal living standard, but of the plight of the whole Jewish community. Gush Etsyon had fallen that day and the invasion of the newly born state by Arab armies was imminent.

We came to the ceremony in dark festive clothes, buy a bright light erupted from all corners of the Tel Aviv Museum Hall at Rothschild Boulevard. "The Jewish people has risen in Eretz Israel" announced David Ben Gurion with his roaring voice and when he finished to read it he asked the audience to approve the Declaration by standing up. I was deeply moved. And after the signing of the text, when he declared that the gates of Eretz Israel will be open from now on to every Jew, I could not sit any more in my place. If this Declaration had been made only a decade earlier, my family would have been saved from the Holocaust. Then my sister the doctor, who wanted to come to Israel after her studies at Prague University, could be here. The

As One of The Signers of The Independence Proclamation

...I congratulate this distinguished publication of the Biographical Encyclopaedia that will help all who are interested to know about many personalities who were prominent in a variety of subjects in the course of the 50 years of existence of the State of Israel.

...As one of the signers of the Independence Declaration of the State of Israel, I regard the anniversary of the foundation of the State as a highly important milestone in its history. I congratulate all inhabitants of the State of Israel and wish that while marking this jubilee we should do everything that the principles decided in the Independence Declaration shall be maintained in practise... that every discrimination is uprooted, that social justice is made, and above all – that peace is achieved with the Palestinians and all our neighbors.

independence of Jewish state came too late. And with this pain in my heart I left the Museum Hall. And the next morning, when Egyptian planes bombed the north of Tel Aviv, I was already on my way to Upper Galilee, where Yigal Alon led the great battle for the liberation of the north of Israel from the terror gangs who invaded the country.

CONGRATULATIONS ON THE 50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE STATE OF ISRAEL AND 55 YEARS OF THE PUBLICATION OF "WHO IS WHO IN ISRAEL"

We are publishing here a collection of congratulations received in the editor's office from Israeli personalities in the occasion of the 50th anniversary of the State and of our festive English edition that marks this important event. In 1998 we have also marked fifty-five years of the existence of the "WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL" Encyclopedia in English and Hebrew.

We thank from the bottom of our heart all the many dozens of personalities who have congratulated us and apologize, that because of the limitations of the book and lack of space we have been forced to shorten the contents of the letters of encouragement, or to omit part of them. We did so with a heavy heart. And again we are grateful to all and return them wishes and our appreciation.

The Editorial Staff

AN IMPRESSIVE GALAXY OF PERSONALITIES – A WORTHY PRESENT TO THE FRIENDS OF ISRAEL.

Not the least achievment of the people of Israelis attested to by the fact that the publishers of "Who's Who in Israel" are able to present, in the Jubilee Year, such an impressive galaxy who earned high repute and contributed, each in his particular field, to the progress and development of the State of Israel. This Festive Edition is a worthy and most welcome present to citizens and friends of the State on its fiftieth birthday.

WELL DONE!

...Fifty years are a long time in the life of man. Not so in the life of a state... In this short period the State of Israel has succeeded in great and wonderful achievements that no nation has reached even after a much longer time.

There are shadows in our life and there are errors and failures – but these cannot overshadow the great achievements.

Your Encyclopedia WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL AND JEWISH PERSONALITIES ALL OVER THE WORLD accompanies the men and women who did and do the job not only since the State was established but some of them also before it. This Encyclopedia deserves great appreciation for its persistence and for the effort to publish the essence of curriculum vitae of personalities in Israel and in the world in order to serve a great many people who need this helpful instrument. Well done!

A VITAL TOOL FOR FURTHER NATIONAL ACTIVITIES

...The State of Israel has made great achievements and it is near the implementation of the vision of political Zionism raised by Herzl, but its great material successes have costed a high social and cultural price... I wish that Israel, simultaneously with seeking peace with its neighbors, should strive for social justice and cultural rejuvenation, should realise the vision of revival of Judaism, should consolidate the identity of the Jewish people and rally it around its state.

For WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL, that publicizes the personalities who contribute to all spheres of creativity of the whole Jewish people, I wish further distribution of the knowledge about the facts and developments. This is a most vital tool for continuation of the national activities in all spheres and it deserves every encouragement and praise.

Eliezer Schweid

Prof. of Jewish Philosophy, writer

IN SPIRIT OF FREEDOM AND CREATIVITY

...We have to reject the phenomens of violence and greed and to implement the ideas about the character of the State upheld by Herzl, Weizmann, Jabotinsky and by the founder of the State of Israel, David Ben-Gurion. Let us deepen knowledge, science and technology and develop a Hebrew culture embracing all aspects and shades. We have the power to do so, if we get rid of the longings for a ghetto and of the superficial rating culture and if we build civil, creative communities, who show civil solidarity and a spirit of freedom and creativity.

MEMORIAL TO THE GLORIOUS JEWISH PEOPLE

At a time when a number of groups are trying to minimize the importance of the miracle of the foundation of Israel's third statehood, the Biographical Encyclopedia WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL AND JEWISH PERSONALITIES ALL OVER THE WORLD establishes a memorial to the glorious Jewish world that developed after our greatest disaster – the Holocaust. This revival after terrible ruin is one of the most wonderful miracles of our generation. Blessed be the people of Israel in Zion and in the Diaspora and blessed be your initiative.

FASCINATING ASPECTS IN ISRAELI SOCIETY

The Biographical Encyclopedia "Who's Who in Israel" reveals fascinating aspects in the life of Israeli society, that developed since more than fifty years. Behind the short descriptions of many public figures exist rich sagas, wonderful achievements and impressive contributions to the development of society and of the State of Israel. The Encyclopedia is a blessed endeavor.

A SPECIAL PLACE IN MY LIBRARY

The books of WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL, since the beginning of the State, occupy in my library a special place where they are always available. When I want to check or engage in a research of the annals of Israel or find information on events, I am looking for details about the personalities who made the wonderful history in the course of the second half of our century, a history abundant with changes and innovations.

Congratulations to the editor and publisher on the occasion of the anniversary issue in the English language.

FROM A "MELTING POT" – TO A CRYSTALIZED ISRAELI CULTURE

I wish for Israel to transform itself, in the next 50 years, from a "melting pot" of various conflicting cultures, to a crystalized Israeli culture, within which will be integrated the best qualities of East and West, with elements of the Jewish culture since Biblical times, to the Zionist era of the last hundred years. And above of all – Peace!

Aharon Megged

A CONTRIBUTION OF MOST SIGNIFICANCE!

For over a half a century "Who's Who in Israel" has recorded the development of Israel's most valuable asset, its human resources. This systematic documentation of personalities and achievments is a contribution of cultural, social and historic significance.

PAGES OF WRITERS AND FIGHTERS

A wreath of flowers to the festive edition of WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL AND JEWISH PERSONALITIES ALL OVER THE WORLD.

The book of biographies of Jews in Israel and in the world unfolds in its pages the deeds of writers and fighters, dreamers and warriors, men of action and vision, statesmen and philosophers, intellectuals, creators of culture and the free professions, whose deeds and endeavors are important and respectable. Congratulations to the honorable and talented editor Mr. Itzhak Ben without whom this publication would not exist.

AN EFFICIENT AUXILIARY FOR EVERYONE

The Biographical Encyclopedia WHO'S WHO IN ISRAEL AND JEWISH PERSONALITIES ALL OVER THE WORLD is an endeavor that deserves congratulations, praises and deep gratitude. Your fine book serves as an efficient auxiliary for everyone who wants to discover and expose details about some personality in our small world, still more so for those whose job demands accuracy and bringing facts up-to-date.

The festive edition fits well into the events celebrating 50 years of the State of Israel, still more so as you have to be credited for five more years of existence and successive publication.

Israel can be proud of your endeavor that is also know in the Diaspora. It is unique in its kind here.

On your anniversary I wish you success in the continuation of your work. Carry on many more years in a prosperous State of Israel.

PROUD OF EVERY WHO'S WHO

...Only an important endeavor like WHO'S WHO, that gathers under one roof, in Hebrew and English, the exquisite Jewish and Israeli personalities, really reminds the reading public of the spiritual treasures of the Jewish people in its country and outside Israel. This collection is important for us, the people who resides in Zion and not less so for the public all over the world who will discover through it the beautiful faces of the State of Israel and of the people of Israel, that rejuvinate themselves all the time.

...Since, the people of Israel came out from slavery to freedom, it may be proud of itself and in front of the whole world of every WHO'S WHO produced from its midst in Israel and in the Diaspora.

Nurit Govrin

Prof. of Hebrew Literature,
Tel-Aviv University

MUCH WORK, THINKING AND ENERGY HAVE BEEN DEVOTED BY THE PUBLISHERS

..."Who's Who" contains important short biographies of leaders, professional men, public servants, society dignitaries etc. and supplies information needed. Much work, thinking and energy have been devoted by the publishers to issue it, and people using the book are most grateful for their efforts.

Ephraim Olshansky
Advocate, LL.B., Barrister at Law

...There is an interesting close relationship between the biographic Encyclopedia "Who's Who in Israel and Jewish personalities in the World", that celebrates 55 years of continuous publication, and the 50-th Jubilee of the State of Israel that we celebrate this year... The persons who have led the State in all its fields of activity, who are listed in the Encyclopedia, have undoubtedly made a significant contribution to the development of our country... Let us hope that the 50-th Year will witness the continuation of the vision of peace and its realization along with economic growth and success.

Shlomo Grofman
Economist, Chairman
Israel Land Development Hotels Corp.

...All of us are proud of the achievements of the Jewish State in technology, economics, culture, education and living standards. Yet we have to understand that we have to upgrade and improve our standards in many areas. Our generation left the new generation with many challenges. They should concentrate on tolerance, unity and continuous drive to an overgrowing efficiency and growth. I wish us to enjoy in our country peace and security with all our neighbours.

Dr. Moshe Mandelbaum

former Governor, Bank of Israel

God bless your real positive way, by giving important short biographies of a list of personalities who are involved deeply in spiritual life of Israel along the 50 years of its independence. Special blessing to "Who's Who" (Mi-va-Mi) Publishing House and to the Editor-in-Chief, Mr. Itzhak Ben (Benditer).

Dr. Maestro Amos Meller

Conductor, Musician, Poet

...Our sages declare (Ethics of the Fathers, Chapter 5) that fifty is the age for advice, or guidance. This could be interpreted to refer to the ability to receive such, as much as to give it. A biographical encyclopedia dealing with the contemporary Jewih world provides valuable guidance for those who wish to be informed about and involved with Israel and Jewry.

It is therefore most appropriate that this special edition has been issued on the Fiftieth Anniversary of the establishment of the State of Israel.

THE UNION OF LOCAL AUTHORITIES IN ISRAEL

The Union of Local Authorities in Israel is the organization which coordinates all the municipalities and regional/local councils in Israel. Today there are 56 municipalities and 148 regional councils (including 67 Arab/ Druse/ Bedouin villages and rural settlements).

Duties of ULAI

1. To serve as the Representative Organisation for the Local Authorities, Municipalities, Local Councils and City Associations in dealings with the Knesset, the Government and its Ministries, institutions and other public organisations in Local Government matters.

2. To represent all the Local Authorities in negotiations with the Histadrut (General Federation of Trade Unions) and other bodies on matters related to working conditions and the signing of collective agreements for Local Authorities employees.

3. To clarify and formulate ways of furthering municipal activity.

4. To handle consolidation of purchases of heavy and standard equipment for the Local Authorities via the Local Government Economic Services Ltd.

5. To provide automation and computer processing services to all the Local Authorities via the Israel Local Authorities Data Processing Centre Ltd.

6. To provide various financial services, including the transfer of Government funds and credit for different time periods via the Bank of Local Authorities Ltd.

7. To provide training programs and seminars for employees of Local Authorities.

8. To establish maintain and nurture contacts with Sister Cities and Local Government Organisations abroad.

9. To advise the Local Authorities regarding the entire range of municipal matters including education, welfare, economy, water, security, status of women, labor relations, law and the courts, etc.

Structure of ULAI

The General Assembly of ULAI comprises of the Heads of all the Local Authorities in Israel who automatically become Members of the Union as soon as they are elected. Yossi Goldberg, Mayor of Metullah, is the elected Directorate of the Heads of the Local Authorities.

The Chairman of ULAI is Adi Eldar, Mayor of Karmiel. In his absence, Ze'ev Bielski Deputy Chairman of ULAI and Mayor of Ra'anana acts as his stand-in.

The Chairman has 17 deputies who represent various parties within the Local Government.

The Union's short and long-term policies are determined by the Chairman and the elected Directorate of the Heads of the Local Authorities. The implementation and supervision of these policies is the joint responsibility of the Union's Director General, Giora Rosenthal and its staff.

JERUSALEM THE CAPITAL OF THE STATE OF ISRAEL

Jerusalem, the capital of the state of Israel, is Israel's largest city in terms of population and total land area. Over the past 25 years, the population of the city has doubled and the land mass increased three-fold.

At the end of 1996, Jerusalem's population was 602,100. The Jewish population was 421,200 and the non-Jewish population was 180,900. The total land area of the Municipality is 123,000 dunams.

Jerusalem has more than one hundred neighborhoods, both small and large. More than 100,000 people have moved into the new neighborhoods built after the Six Day War.

The Municipality is managed by the Mayor, the members of the City Council and the general employee administration. In order to improve the municipal services neighborhood and community councils have been established. They were convened in order to emphasize the individuality of each neighborhood and to increase the participation of the residents in their own affairs.

Municipal Infrastructure

The water network in Jerusalem extends over 1,032 kilometers and serves 137,000 consumers. The sewage and drainage network extends over 1,122 km. There are 740 km. of roads in Jerusalem and over 762 km of sidewalks. In the business center there are 12,613 parking spots. There are 1,132 public parks over a total area of 5,636 dunams.

There are 28 municipal libraries with 24,500 members in Jerusalem, as well as 2 mobile libraries which serve neighborhoods that do not have access to local municipal libraries. There are 50 museums, 16 hospitals, 35 family health clinics, 23 community centers and councils, 8 youth movements with 71 branches, 57 social clubs for senior citizens (with 80 groups), 1,105 synagogues, 57 mikvahs, 65 churches, 72 convents and 59 mosques.

Jerusalem City Hall

The desire to improve services for the residents of Jerusalem was the primary catalyst for undertaking the building of the new municipal complex. Previously, municipal offices were scattered over 36 different sites in Jerusalem. Now they are all concentrated within one easily accessible site, enabling every citizen to attend to municipal affairs in a pleasant and orderly fashion.

In May 1993, the City Council of Jerusalem gave its permission to call the central square "Safra Square," after Jacob Safra and his family.

Developments in Industrial Areas

The modern city of Jerusalem is in the process of developing/strengthening and expanding its employment and industrial base. A variety of enterprises have set up or will set up in the new industrial areas. Developments in industrial areas include Har Hotzvim B, C and D, Pisgat Ze'ev, Mevasseret Zion, Atarot A and B, Givat Shaul, Talpiot Industrial Park and the Jerusalem Technological Park. The Technological Park has been designated as a site for science-based and technology-based industries and it is intended to absorb a work force of approximately 2,500. In total, more than 3,000 dunams are to be developed for industrial use.

Roads

The development of roads is vital to the city's future development. This development includes the following roads: Menachem Begin Blvd. which was recently opened and will serve as a major artery connecting northern and southern Jerusalem. Road No. 9 will serve as an additional entrance to the city in the west. The Eastern Ring Road and the Western Ring Road will complete the network of cross-town (north/south) link roads. As well, Road No. 45 will be a freeway linking Jerusalem to the coast. Many parking lots will also be built.

Urban Development

In recent years Jerusalem has been witness to considerable momentum in terms of development, particularly with regards to the planning and implementation of major urban projects. At the same time, the unique character of the city and its numerous sites has been preserved in its full glory. A program has been developed for renovating the Russian Compound which includes both buildings slotted for preservation and new buildings and creates a mixed development of business, offices and hotels. Several projectsof considerable scope are planned for the area surrounding the entrance to the city. These include: the Entrance to the City Intersection, Binyanei Ha'Umah and the International Congress Center complex, the Central Bus Station, the Israel Broadcasting Authority complex which is intended to house all departments of the Israel Broadcasting Authority, now scattered throughout the city, in a single complex, and Kiryat Ha'Leom which is intended to house the government offices and national institutions in a single complex. In Ramat Rachel, tourist sites and residential units are to be built. In Emek Arazim both an industrial area and a residential area are to be built alongside an area slated for tourist development. As well, the YMCA complex is to be converted into a recreational, sport and residential complex. The biggest and most important project being planned is Emek Zion, between the Givat Ram campus of the Hebrew University and Kiryat Ben Gurion, and between the residential neighborhoods of Kiryat Moshe, Beit Hakerem, Ramat Beit Hakerem, Bayit V'Gan and Givat Mordechai. The region surrounding Menachem Begin Blvd. is also slated for development. This includes the development of Pat junction into a center for commerce and trade, the development of Beit junction, and the expansion of the entrance to the city in order to decrease traffic and increase accessibility for both private vehicles and public transportation.

Residential Areas

New residential units continue to be built in established neighborhoods, but more so in the newer neighborhoods where there is the greatest momentum in development. Amongst the projects being discussed is the idea of moving Shneller army base from the city center to Atarot and to establish a new residential neighborhood in the area. A large residential project is planned for Har Homah in the south of the city. In Ramat Beit Hakerem, an additional 2,700 units will be built. Givat HaMatos, in the south of the city, will also be developed into a residential area. Construction in the south of Jerusalem will add another approximately 15,000 units. Many more residential units are also slated for construction in and around the city center.

Education and Culture in Jerusalem

More than 250,000 students learn in Jerusalem's educational system, in an impressive variety of institutions and educational systems. In Jerusalem there are many educational institutes including the Hebrew University, Bezalel Art Academy and various research institutes. 50 museums serve the general public including the Israel Museum and the National Library, Mt. Herzl and the Yad Vashem Institute, the Museum of the History of Jerusalem in the Tower of David, Ammunition Hill, the Museum of Science and the Bible Lands Museum. Jerusalem also has many theaters, an orchestra, cinematheque and cultural centers. These, along with other cultural and educational events, make Jerusalem into a city where everyone can find a way to fulfill his/her cultural needs.

There are also the usual form of entertainment and recreational centers. The new industrial zone in Talpiot attracts many youngsters as does the city center. The Jerusalem Mall, Kanyon Yerushalayim, is the largest shopping mall in the Middle East. The sports stadium, Teddy Stadium, serves many residents of Jerusalem as does the Heichal HaSport (sports center) and the tennis center.

Tourism

The importance and status of Jerusalem is a leading attraction of tourists to Israel. The Ministry of Tourism and the Municipality of Jerusalem are working to actualize the potential draw of tourists to Jerusalem. The majority of tourists who come to Israel also visit Jerusalem. Therefore, the further development and expansion of tourism will help the tourism industry throughout the entire country. Jerusalem is of special significance to the three monotheistic religions – Judaism, Christianity and Islam – and therefore is a frequent destination for many varieties of pilgrims and travellers. Two key events that are expected to draw large numbers of tourists to Israel and Jerusalem include the ongoing 50th anniversary celebrations of Israel's independence (1998/9) and the year 2000, being the beginning of the new millennium. Among the projects now underway or in advanced planning stages are: the revitalization of the city center, the Mount of Olives Promenade, the fin Kerem Tourist Route, the Valley of Kings, the development of the City of David and the Ophel, tourist routes in the Old City and the establishment of additional bird-watching stations.

Jerusalem is also Israel's most important center for international conferences. In accordance with the many improvements to the tourism and general infrastructure of Jerusalem, many conferences and major events are planned for the near future.

PETACH TIKVA MUNICIPALITY

Petach Tikva was founded in 1878 by a group of pioneers from Jerusalem, and in fact serves as the actual beginning point of Jewish settlement in Israel. Until this day, the city is fondly called the "Mother of the Settlements".

The residents of Petach Tikva, as in the past, are comprised of warriors, people of the good earth and people of the good book. History shows that volunteers from Petach Tikva, courageously defended their settlement, as well as adjacent settlements; Petach Tikva's sons and daughters played a role in all the Jewish and national missions. We remain proud of the fact that the people of our town continue to be pioneers in all walks of life: medicine, military, science, engineering, sports, industry, agriculture, construction, education and settlement. Today Petach Tikva is the sixth largest city in size in the State of Israel, yet the largest in industry and medicine. 150,000 city residents are blessed with public institutions and progressive community services, educational and theological institutions, museums, parks, community centers as well as entertainment, recreational and sports centers.

The city has 42,000 students, in 60 schools and 200 municipal kindergartens.

The city is located approximately 15km east of Tel-Aviv, and still contains large agricultural areas. These days the areas are becoming residential neighborhoods, due to the need for the absorption of massive waves of immigration, mostly from the USSR.

Petach Tikva is a city which continually absorbs new immigrants, in the tradition that has been upheld ever since the early 1950's, when the city numbered a mere 25,000 residents. With the passage of time, a few neighborhoods of a low sociodemographic level were formed, which require special attention and assistance. The last wave of immigration has brought thousands of immigrants in its wake; many thousands of others will hopefully continue to arrive. The significance of this is obvious: in addition to the existing problems, we are now faced with complex problems of housing, employment and education for the new immigrants. The city must now cope with these problems, as well as other problems which are just as important, such as assistance and support in housing and employment for recently discharged soldiers and young couples. Many changes are currently taking place in the city, both in the development of the industrial areas, and the beautification and improvement of the residential areas. All this and more make Petach Tikva an attractive place to live; it comes as no surprise that more and more people have made our city their home.

There is much work to be done. Be with us in Petach Tikva.

RAANANA – THE JEWEL OF THE SHARON

Founded in 1922, Raanana is now one of Israel's most beautiful and sought-after cities. While furthering its development towards the new millennium, Raanana maintains its historical heritage and its unique village-like atmosphere. The 65,000 strong population is comprised mostly of young, highly educated Israeli-born residents, of whom some 15% are immigrants, primarily from English-speaking countries.

Education

Education is at the forefront of municipal priorities, with over 70 schools from nursery to high school. Investment in the educational infrastructure includes air conditioning, laboratories, computer centers, libraries, etc. Supplementary learning and enrichment programs benefit thousands of school age children. The Open University has begun building its new campus in Raanana which will further boost the city's education system and reputation.

Caring for the Community

Senior citizens enjoy varied club activities, voluntary programs, a Day Care Center, and a Senior Citizen Employment Center, while the physically and mentally handicapped benefit from special programs provided by the municipality. Community centers serve as a focal point for social cultural and communal activities for residents of all ages in their immediate neighborhood. More than 40 voluntary organizations operate in Raanana for the benefit of the sick, needy, handicapped and elderly in the community.

Quality of Life

Raanana, the recipient of many awards for its accomplishments in environmental quality, was recently voted the city with the highest quality of life in Israel. The Municipality was also awarded the ISO 9002 for the quality of its services in the public sector.

Raanana, beautifully-kept and well-maintained, has over 100 parks and gardens, of which the largest, the Raanana Park, complete with vast lawns sports areas, zoo, 5000-seat amphitheater and lake, attracts thousands of Sharon area residents every week.

Culture and Sports

Leading Raanana's growing reputation as a major player in the local and international cultural scene is the Raanana Symphonette Orchestra. Founded in 1991 to offer a stage to the highly talented Russian immigrant musicians, this full-time orchestra is well respected throughout Israel, Europe and the States. The city also boasts many local choirs and folk singing and dance groups.

Raanana's residents regularly enjoy theater performances, varied musical concerts, family entertainment shows, art exhibits and more.

With the many excellent indoor and outdoor sports facilities in the city, and a basketball team in the top national league, Raanana places much emphasis on sports education. The city's volleyball, athletics, judo and football teams also enjoy much success.

Raanana: The Center of Hi-tech.

A major hi-tech industrial zone, in whose construction and infrastructure Raanana has invested significantly, has attracted major Israeli companies, including Nice Systems, Digital and Orek. The high quality of life, the appropriate infrastructure and the city's central location and accessibility, combine to maximize Raanana's potential as the new center for the hi-tech industry.

Raanana celebrates its 76th anniversary and the State of Israel's Jubilee, proud of its achievements and looking forward to an even brighter future as the Jewel of the Sharon.

MODI'IN – CITY OF THE FUTURE

In the heart of Israel between Tel-Aviv and Jerusalem, a new city is developing- Modi'in,

It is planned for a population of 250,000 citizens, becoming the fifth largest populated city in Israel.

The site of the city spreads east from the coastal lowland, over the hills, which climb to the Jerusalem mountains. The beautiful scenery of the coastal towns can be seen at the western horizon.

This site was chosen because of its ideal geographic and climatic properties which facilitate convenient development and the building of a classic city which encompasses every facet of a modern and vital urban centre. The objective is to develop a city which integrates advanced building in the natural environment within historical roots.

Since the government's decision to establish the new city in December 1985, all encompassing studies were undertaken to analyze the site, its characteristics and its potential assets.

The city planning team headed by the world reknowned architect Moshe Safdie, collected and analyzed a wealth of material referring to urban development both in Israel and throughout the world. This thorough planning effort brought about the creation of a whole urban entity, including the communal and environmental components which ensure a successful viable city.

A CITY WITH A SPECIAL CONCEPT

The goal the planning team strived to achieve was the creation of a city whose components will be harmoniously integrated in the basic plan – a city which will include all the necessary systems and services, residential areas, public institutions (health & education), commercial centres, employment opportunities, roads, parks and leisure activities. Modi'in will have a dominant city centre which will be located along the city central spine, with the C.B.D and transportation centre at its core.

The topographical site structure is based on ridges and valleys running east to west. East-west bound traffic arteries will originate naturally at the lower parts of the valleys while the north-south bound road arteries will be graded through the topography. The valleys will form the city spinal system.

The city boulevards will be situated in the valleys as will be the city community centers.

The residential areas will spread alongside the valleys, from the lower levels up to the terraces at the tops of the hills.

The characteristic view of the city will be a combination of stone covered buildings, similar to those typifying Jerusalem, together with plastered brick and block structures typical of those in the coastal cities.

Hilltops will be verdant with trees which will integrate harmoniously with the above described architecture.

City design will preserve the special attributes and natural beauty of the site as well as its topographical structure.

All of the systems comprising the city's infrastructure (electricity, communication, water, drainage, sewerage) will be subterranean. Most of the buildings will be 3 to 4 stories high although a small percentage of low-rise row houses are planned as well.

The educational system will be all-encompassing, from pre-kindergartens, elementary and high schools, to technological and art colleges and university.

The city will provide for advance health care, including a city hospital. The communications system will be based on optic fibers. The whole city will be cable connected and all community services will be computerized.

Keren Hayesod - United Israel Appeal

Founded in London in 1920 to meet the challenge of building the Jewish homeland, Keren Hayesod – United Israel Appeal is the central fund raising organization for Israel throughout the world (except USA), in helping to meet Israel's immigration, absorption, settlement and human needs. It operates in some 45 countries on every continent through 90 campaigns, under terms of the "Keren Hayesod Law" passed by the Knesset in January. 1956.

Today, more than 75 years after its establishment, Keren Hayesod – UIA can truly be described as a World Jewish Family. It has a volunteer force of thousands of devoted lay leaders and workers around the globe, assisted by the Head Office in Jerusalem, which plans, coordinates and provides a wide range of services to the various campaigns.

Keren Hayesod – UIA has been instrumental in bringing mass aliyah to Israel from the former Soviet Union, Ethiopia and other countries and sees its main function as saving Jewish lives through: rescue and aliyah; Jewish-Zionist education, developing Israel's periphery and helping to ensure the Jewish future.

THE COUNCIL FOR A BEAUTIFUL ISRAEL

המועצה
יפה

The Council for a Beautiful Israel (CBI) was founded by Mrs. Chaim Herzog in 1969, when it became apparent that faulty town planning, hurried development, industrial and traffic pollution and a general lack of awareness about the environment had brought on rural and urban blight. The Knesset Interior Committee approached Mrs. Herzog to set up a public association of volunteers dedicated to safeguarding, developing and beautifying the environment, and to enhancing the quality of life of the people in Israel. For over a quarter of a century, Mrs. Herzog has continued to serve as CBI's International President.

The Council works for an environmentally sound, aesthetically sensitive, and socially concerned Israel by:

- teaching judicious planning of the built environment
- increasing environmental awareness through educational programs
- creating model projects to be emulated across the country
- empowering the disabled to experience and enjoy their surroundings
- helping preserve Israel's landscape and resources
- rooting the people to the land through environmental action
- seeking solutions to environmental issues affecting the present and future of the country.

Working in cooperation and coordination with government and public bodies, CBI's cadre of thousands of volunteers has spearheaded projects and activities designed to implement the organization's goals. Since 1969, CBI has established dozens of model playgrounds and outdoor areas for the disabled, saved important landmarks, beautified streets, developed schoolyards and turned the areas around public shelters into beautiful parks. Its newest initiative is the development of therapeutic gardening facilities for those with physical and mental handicaps.

A variety of environmental competitions, sponsored for industry, army bases, schools, community centers, hospitals, towns and villages, have achieved significant results as well. These competitions, accompanied by educational programs, have helped reduce the devastating long-term effects of pollution while promoting aesthetic values, and hence productivity itself, in the home, workplace, school and military.

At CBI's Center for Environmental Studies, opened in Tel Aviv in 1992 on the banks of the Yarkon River, and at its branches throughout the country, the Council conducts a broad program of courses, symposia, workshops, exhibitions, films and teacher trainings. These programs are developed by a team of professionals for people of all ages and from all walks of life. The number of visitors to the Center for Environmental Studies has now reached 70,000.

KEREN KAYEMETH LEISRAEL (Jewish National Fund)

Keren Kayemeth LeIsrael (KKL), the Zionist Organization's land acquisition and development fund, holds some 15% of the land in the country, as the trustee of the Jewish People, and is Israel's leading green body.

Established at the Fifth Zionist Congress in 1901 in order to create a territorial base for a Jewish state, it was based on the principle of public ownership of land according to both the biblical injunction that "The land shall not be sold forever for the land is Mine," and the aged institution of the Jubilee Year.

By the end of the 20th century, it had drained half a million dunams1 and reclaimed a million for some 1,000 agricultural settlements countrywide, planted more than 200 million trees, built 6,000 kilometers of roads and forest trails and some 400 forest picnic and recreation sites, built some 100 reservoirs adding some 70 million cu. m.2 of water to the national economy, tended 400,000 dunams of natural scrub and as large an area of rangeland. It was responsible for 1.6 million dunams of forestland and open spaces, had become a world leader in the management of arid zones and was environmentally repairing the country's riverways.

Early Activities

Between 1902 and 1907, KKL's Vienna head office, headed by Johann Kremenezki, launched a worldwide fundraising organization, establishing such popular Zionist symbols as KKL stamps, the Blue Box and Golden Book donor inscriptions. In 1907 the head office moved to Cologne under Max Bodenheimer as chairman of the board, and KKL was incorporated in London as an "association limited by guarantee."

The first tract of land acquired was Kfar Hittim in Lower Galilee (1904), followed in 1908 by Ben Shemen and Hulda in Judea, and Kinneret-Deganya near Lake Kinneret. Large-scale afforestation began with experimental tree planting in 1908 at Herzl Forest, financed by KKL's Olive Tree Fund. KKL aided urban development by extending long-term loans to the founders of Tel Aviv and by acquiring a building for the Bezalel Art School in Jerusalem and land for Herzliya High School in Tel Aviv and the Technion in Haifa. It also financed the activities of the Palestine Office of the Zionist Organization. In 1914, upon the outbreak of World War I, the head office moved to the Hague in neutral Holland under Nehemia de Lieme.

In July 1920, the London Conference of the Zionist Organization, which established an additional fund, Keren HaYesod, declared KKL "the instrument of urban and rural land policy of the Jewish People," devoted exclusively to land acquisition and improvement.

Under the British Mandate

KKL not only bought land but made it fit for settlement. The first large settlement area acquired was the Jezreel Valley in 1921, increasing KKL land property from 4,000 to almost 15,000 acres (16,000 to 59,000 dunams). In 1922, the head office moved finally to Jerusalem, and Menahem Ussishkin became its chairman. In the latter 1920s, it acquired and drained the Hefer and Zebulon Valleys, creating a continuous chain of Jewish settlement on the coastal plain. The Arab riots of 1936-39, and the Peel Commission's partition plan (1937-38) lent increased political importance to KKL land acquisition. Jewish holdings and overnight "Tower-and-Stockade" settlements were rapidly extended to new regions (Beth-She'an and Hula valleys, Menashe Hills, Western Galilee, southern Coastal Plain). During World War II, KKL sought intricate legal expedients to overcome the severe restrictions imposed by the land regulations issued under the British White Paper, and stepped up land acquisition even further. In 1943 it established three Negev outposts to test both agricultural feasibility and British reaction. In 1946, it was instrumental in the overnight establishment of 11 Negev settlement points. Opening up the northern Negev for Jewish settlement and strengthening positions in Galilee, it brought its possessions in 1947 to 234,000 acres (936,000 dunams), more than half the total Jewish holdings in Palestine. After Ussishkin's death in

1941, a committee of three - Berl Katzenelson, Rabbi Meir Bar-Ilan (Berlin), and Abraham Granott - headed the KKL board of directors. In 1945, Granott took over as chairman and on his death in 1960 was succeeded by Jacob Tsur, to be followed by Moshe Rivlin in 1977 and Shlomo Gravetz and Yehiel Leket in 1998.

In Independent Israel

Upon the founding of the State of Israel, KKL's emphasis shifted from land purchase to large-scale land reclamation, development and afforestation, steered by Joseph Weitz who had headed its Land Division from the early 1920s. Swamps were drained and hills cleared of stones and terraced, principally along the 1949 armistice borders, opening up more areas for settlement. In the Negev, contour plowing, the planting of shelter belts around fields, and the leveling of eroded terrain yielded new farming areas. In the north, the draining of the Hula marshlands (1952-58) resulted in 60,000 dunams of fertile soil. To help immigrant absorption, KKL set up "work villages" and employed newcomers in land reclamation and afforestation.

Since the mid-1950s, KKL has carried out comprehensive regional development projects all over the country. It built roads, created huge forests, constructed dams and reservoirs to help expand the water economy and developed infrastructure for tourism projects to help expand the employment market.

In July, 1960, the Knesset passed a Basic Law on Israel land holdings, followed by the Israel Lands Administration Law. A Covenant between KKL and the Government, established an Israel Lands Administration (ILA) for the management of all Government and KKL holdings, and a Land Development Authority functioning within the KKL framework. The ILA in 1998 was governed by an Israel Lands Council of 21 (originally 13) members, consisting of 10 (originally seven) Government and 10 (originally six) KKL representatives, plus a chairman (in 1998, this was the Minister of Infrastructures). In the early 1990s, by Government request, KKL prepared national land for housing to help absorb the waves of immigrants from the former Soviet Union and Ethiopia and, as in early statehood, helped provide jobs for their absorption. It built dozens of reservoirs, developed major forest parks and embarked on savannization in the Negev (harvesting surface runoff for sparse plantings to halt desertification). It also created a forest fire-fighting network and won Government approval for a National Master Plan on Forests and Afforestation, lending statutory protection to 1.6 million dunams of planned and existing, planted and natural woodlands. In addition, it carried out massive drainage work in salinized soil, environmentally redeveloped the deteriorated Hula Valley and began repairing the country's clogged and polluted riverways. The Negev, in this period, became a major focus for regional development.

"Negev of growth" - A Keren Kayemet enterprise (together with the Jewish Agency and the Ministry of Agriculture) to promote the agriculture and the settlements in the Negev: water reservoirs, citrus groves, olive groves, fishing ponds, greenhouse centers, and development for agriculture.

KKL's budget in the 1990s hovered around the NIS 800 million mark and derived largely from its land holdings and partially from fundraising. It was headed by a board of directors consisting of 36 members elected by the World Zionist Organization, and was active in some 40 coun tries, with a strong focus on Zionist education both in Israel and abroad. A KKL Teachers Council, active in Israel since the mid-1920s, operated in a number of Diaspora countries as well.

Visiting Israel?

Plant a Tree with Your Own Hands!

Leave your fingerprint in the land of Israel and help green a once barren land.
Keren Kayemeth LeIsrael (the Jewish National Fund) operates a unique program that enables tourists and local residents to plant trees with their own hands. By doing so, you can personally contribute to the afforestation activities in this once barren land.
Tourists may plant trees with their own hands — and without prior arrangements — at six planting centers (three in the Jerusalem area and three in Galilee).
When in Israel, contact Keren Kayemeth LeIsrael for details about exact locations and times to תנועת העבודה הציונית העולמית world labour zionist movement

The World Movement and its Goals

1. The World Labour Zionist Movement is an ideological-political movement, which struggles for the existence of the Jewish people, for the myriad of ethnicities which makes up the State of Israel, and for social justice.

2. The World Labour Zionist Movement is made up of all of the movements, groups, and organizations throughout the Jewish world which identify with the Israeli Labour Party.

This is a world organization which includes the Israeli Labour Party and its sister movements in the Diaspora. It is an umbrella structure for the coordination of political-zionist, ideological and educational activity – and a voice for the fundamental union that exists between the Labour Party in Israel and the progressive Zionist groups in the Diaspora.

The World Labour Zionist Movement is a framework which is made up of many age groups – it includes the counselors and graduates of the Habonim Dror youth movement, the progressive student organizations, the World Young Leadership, and the various factions – Poalei Tzion, the Labour Zionist Association, Avoda, and Oz ve Shalom. In various countries, the women's organization, NA'AMAT, is considered as an inseparable part of the World Movement.

The Movement is active in the following countries:

The United States, Canada, Mexico, Venezuela, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, England, Germany, France, Sweden, Holland, Belgium, Italy, Hungary, Switzerland, Turkey, South Africa, Australia. New Zealand, the Former Soviet. Union, and India.

Once every four years, the Movement holds a World Conference which is the highest authority of the Movement. The Conference discusses and decides on all of the topics which are on the agenda of the Movement and elects institutions: chairperson, secretary general, World Bureau, operational secretariat, and comptroller committee.

The Conference has the right to use its authority on the World Bureau and the World Bureau manages the affairs of the Movement between conference meetings. The Bureau has 101 members: 46 from Israel, 45 from the Diaspora, and nine members who are position holders.

In 1964, the World Committee which the Movement held in Jerusalem established the Moshe Sharett Institute. This Institute deals in inventive education in the spirit of the values of socialistic Zionism. Its goal is the training of activists in the Movement and in Jewish communities throughout the world, as well as educational activities in Israel. The current chairman is Michael Landesberg

The Tenth Committee of the Movement, which was held in Jerusalem in December 1997, elected Aharon Yadlin as Chairman of the Movement and Michael Landesberg as Secretary General.

HADASSAH EIN KEREM HOSPITAL, JERUSALEM
EMERGENCY UNIT

Hadassah Medical Organization

The Hadassah Women's Zionist Organization of America, the largest Zionist organization in the world, established the Hadassah University Hospital on Mt. Scopus, Jerusalem in 1939.

The Hadassah Medical Organization (H.M.O.) proceeded to be the pacesetter for excellence in health care, teaching and research in the State of Israel. Today it comprises the Hadassah University Hospitals at Ein Kerem and Mt. Scopus, with close to one thousand beds between them, and associated out-patient and day-care services. H.M.O. is at the forefront of modern medical practice and provides the highest standard of health care through the expertise of its world renowned staff utilizing the latest technology. Over 600,000 patients from all over Israel and beyond its borders, are treated annually, without distinction as to race, religion or nationality.

The Ein Kerem Hospital is the larger of the two with about 700 beds and serves as a national referral center for tertiary and last resort care. The latest in I.V.F. procedures and treatment of male sterility, bone marrow transplantation, heart-lung and liver transplants, laparoscopic surgery, and cold laser surgery, give an indication of the scope of sophisticated techniques routinely used.

The beautifully restored Mt. Scopus Hospital was reopened in 1978 after extensive renovations and enlargement. It is a 300-bed regional hospital serving Jewish and Arab neighborhoods of northern and eastern Jerusalem and its facilities include a physical rehabilitation center, neonatal intensive care, and the Ina and Jack Kay Hospice as well as all standard medical departments.

The Hadassah Medical Organization continues to grow and progress on all levels of its endeavor, supported by the ongoing commitment of the Hadassah Women's Zionist Organization of America to provide the ultimate in health care and medical research for Israel's people.

A state of the art Mother and Child Center designed to reduce the trauma of hospitalization of children has recently been opened. It comprises the Wolfson Children's Pavilion, housing the Departments of Pediatrics and Pediatric Surgery and the Jula Goldwurm Obstetrics Department including High Risk Pregnancy Unit and Neonatal Intensive Care. The new Center has created a welcoming child-oriented environment and centralizes a comprehensive range of the needs of child care and obstetrics, including outpatient clinics.

In October 1997 the Human Biology Research Center was formally inaugurated upon installation of the first medical cyclotron in Israel. The Center had been functioning since 1996 when the Positron Emission Tomography (P.E.T.) Laboratory was dedicated. P.E.T. imaging is the most advanced technology in medical imaging which permits following subtle changes in the chemistry of various organs (such as the brain during mental activities, the heart during stress and drug induced stimulation, and cancers at various stages of development in any part of the body), with no injury to the patient.

The new Goldyne Savad Institute of Gene Therapy was opened in November 1998 at Hadassah Ein Kerem.

In the field of bone marrow transplantation, Hadassah has attained international stature and patients arrive here from relatively close neighbors such as Jordan, Lebanon, Cyprus, Greece, and Turkey, as well as from the more distant Argentina, Hungary, Bulgaria and the C.I.S. The B.M.T. Center has also been instrumental in establishing transplantation facilities in the Far East and South America and in training local physicians in this specialty.

Hadassah was designated by the Israel Ministry of Health as a National Center for bone marrow, heart, liver, and pancreas transplants. It is also the home of the National Skin Depository and National Bone Bank. Patients from all over Israel are referred to Hadassah for complex transplant surgery as well as for second opinion.

THE "HA'MIFAL" — EDUCATIONAL CHILDREN'S HOMES

The Organization was founded 55 years ago by the late Mrs. Recha Freier and is an exemplary model of a body that fulfills national-educational needs.

The "Ha'Mifal" is supervised by the Ministry of Culture and Education, and its prime goal is to rehabilitate, raise and educate the hundreds of children aged 5-18 in its care. The children who reach the Mifal are referred by social workers, or truant officers because it is imperative to remove them from their natural homes that have been destroyed by severe socio-economic problems and provide them with a healthy, constructive environment. They come from homes wrecked from drugs, prostitution and crime, and culturally and scholastically deprived families where the children have suffered acute neglect, rejection and deprivation. The children are physically and mentally fit but lack the proper home which will enable them to grow and develop into educated contributing citizens.

The Ha'Mifal is made up of seven children's homes all over the country: Children's Villages at Carmiel and Afula, homes at Givat-Ada, Neve Galim in Ashdod, Neveh-Yehuda in Ness Ziona, Neve Ha'roeh in Ashkelon, and a new children village for the druze sector in Horfesh. Four residential units in Nethania, Moshav Yesha, Kibbuts Saad Mairav.

Each home consists of 7-8 family-units with 10 boys and girls of different ages. Each family-unit lives in separate accommodations, with a married couple employed by the Mifal acting as surrogate parents. The woman is a full-time house-mother and the husband is employed part-time, leaving home for work in the morning, like any ordinary father, when he returning in the afternoon, he helps the children with their homework. Each family-unit contains bedrooms for the couple and their children, a joint living-room, kitchennette dinette, bedrooms and showers for the kids, furnished with an emphasis on family atmosphere and care.

The couple devotes its time to each and every child. Follow-ups are conducted regularly concerning their studies and behavior. The children attend regular schools, and return home at noon. Each home has a clubroom, a small library, a playground and a sports area.

Ha'Mifal's psychologists and social workers follow constantly the progress. Of each child and provide therapy and counseling.

Ha'Mifal encourages contact with the natural parents and assists those who want to keep in touch with their children through mutual visits. The children visit their home every third weekend, where possible.

Avraham Barashi, Chairman of the Board of Directors, says: "The family-unit concept is the basis of our children's homes and is unique to our organization. The married couples are motivated by a sense of dedication and devote their entire time and energy to the children's well being. The emphasis is on a caring and personal approach to each child who is listened to with an understanding heart and lots of love and warmth".

Ha'Mifal's credo is that child-raising should based on an individual approach to each child and evaluating his progress constantly, based not only on his physical well being, but on his emotional development, an improved self-confidence and image, mutual trust and inter-relationships".

Recently, Ha'Mifal decided to prolong the children stay until they reached the age of 18 when they join the army.

Mr. Barashi wishes to add more homes throughout the country, and thus be able to absorb all those children already referred to the Mifal and help them, too, to grow up as citizens with equal opportunities in Israel.

Therefore, Ha'Mifal needs all the public help and support possible.

האוניברסיטה העברית בירושלים
THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY OF JERUSALEM

The Hebrew University of Jerusalem was from its very inception an integral part of the realization of the Zionist dream of re-establishing a vibrant Jewish presence in the Land of Israel. The University's role was to serve as the emerging nation's intellectual, scientific and technological center, training the future leadership and engaging in research that would pave the way for advances in all aspects of life. It also was intended to be the lighthouse of knowledge for the entire Jewish world. In fulfilling its mission, the University has numerous achievements of which it can be proud.

From the day it opened its doors on Mount Scopus in 1925, with three research institutes, 33 faculty members and 141 students, the University has grown today to an institution offering higher education in all areas of specialization to some 24,000 students who are enrolled in seven faculties and 13 schools on four campuses. The faculty today numbers 1,100 tenured members. A strong emphasis is placed on graduate studies and scientific research, and some one-third of the total enrollment consists of master's and Ph.D. students. 3,500 research projects are in progress at the University.

The University is a truly national and international university. Seventy percent of Hebrew University students come from outside Jerusalem. At the Rothberg International School, students come from all over the world to study in programs ranging from a few weeks in the summer to full degree programs.

The University views its special contribution to Israeli society through its emphasis on excellence in all fields, stressing standards of teaching and research that will insure its ability to attract the most promising students from all sectors of society. To this day, a high percentage of the leading Israeli figures in public service, law, medicine, business, education, high-technology industry and many other fields are graduates of the Hebrew University. Research initiated at the University has been applied to scores of applications in high-technology industry in the country.

The University attaches a special importance to its responsibility to contribute to the continued economic and intellectual development of Jerusalem, and it has taken practical steps in this regard to cooperate with local officials and public bodies to promote innovative educational programs for youth, to open its cultural resources to the general public, and to encourage the creation of new science-based industrial enterprises and other employment opportunities in the capital.

The University, in accordance with its original mandate, has reached out beyond its responsibility to the people and State of Israel and has created educational and research frameworks for people from all over the world, particularly in areas that are intended to serve Jewish communities everywhere. Special schools and institutes provide flexible instruction and in-service training to educators, scholars in Jewish studies, and youth seeking intellectual nourishment and enrichment in order to develop their Jewish self-identity and enhance their communal leadership abilities.

UNIVERSITY OF HAIFA – general view

UNIVERSITY OF HAIFA

אוניברסיטת חיפה
جامعة حيفا

Situated on the crest of Mount Carmel overlooking Haifa Bay, the University of Haifa was established in 1963 to serve the diverse populations of northern Israel. Its present student body of almost 13,000 undergraduates and graduate students is the most pluralistic in the country. Programs of study leading to the B.A., M.A., and Ph,D. degrees are offered in the framework of five Faculties: Humanities, Social Sciences and Mathematics, Law, Social Welfare and Health Studies, and Education, It also has a Graduate School of Business Administration. The University offers exclusive degree programs found nowhere else in Israel, such as in creative arts and maritime archaeology and a diploma program in museology, as well as innovative departments in nursing, human services, and theater. Specialized programs include a graduate study program for senior officers in the Israel Defense Force and Israel Police.

The University's interdisciplinary Overseas Studies Program, with its emphasis on integrating students into the University's special campus life, has a well-known ulpan and draws students from around the world.

The University Library is a central, open-stack facility, containing over one million book and non-book (e.g., slides, microfiche) items. Its catalog and other reader services, including on-line databases, are fully computerized and perhaps the most advanced in the country. The University Library services public and school libraries throughout northern Israel.

Research at the University is conducted through a range of centers and institutes. These include:

- The Jewish-Arab Center – a pioneering leader in the cause of peace, works to foster better understanding between Jews and Arabs on and off campus.

- Herzl Institute for the Study of Zionism.
- Strochlitz Institute for Research on the Holocaust Period.
- Institute for the Study and Research of the Kibbutz and the Cooperative Idea.
- Ray D. Wolfe Center for the Study of Psychological Stress.
- Institute for Information Processing and Decision-Making.
- Minerva Center for Cognitive Processes.
- Minerva Center for Youth Policy.
- Leon Recanati Center for Maritime Studies.
- Wydra Institute for Research of Shipping and Aviation.
- Center for Multiculturalism and Educational Research.
- Institute of Evolution (has world's largest bank of wheat and barley strains).
- Center for Jewish Education in the Diaspora.
- Center for Interdisciplinary Research of Emotions (only research center of its kind).
- Center for National Security Studies.

Besides its academic role, the University is deeply involved in service to the community by, among others, pioneering a special preparatory program for Ethiopian immigrant students and setting up a special pre-academic program for immigrants from the former Soviet Union; and establishing outreach programs in the Druze and Arab communities. In general, the University of Haifa has striven to promote co-existence between Jew and Arab on campus as a model for the society at large.

The University also offers continuing education programs, whether to professionals through the Faculties of Education and Social Welfare or to the community at large through an extensive External Studies Unit.

Home of a number of art galleries and the only archaeological museum (devoted to the People of Israel in the Land of Israel) – the Hecht Museum – located on an Israeli campus, the University strives to foster an esthetic learning environment.

Technion – Israel Institute of Technology

Technion City, Haifa 32000 Israel

In operation since 1924, the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology is Israel's first university and the country's only institution of higher education solely devoted to scientific-technological research and study on both the undergraduate and graduate level. The Institute offers students a chance to pursue studies in science, engineering, medicine, industrial management, architecture and education.

Students and Alumni

There are approximately 11,800 students currently enrolled at the Technion, of whom 25% are graduate students and 400 are overseas students. Since its inception, the Technion has graduated over 45,000 scientists and engineers who now maintain visible segment of Israel's industrial sector and fill functions in government, academia and the defense establishment. About 70% of Israeli educated engineers are Technion graduates.

Faculties

On campus 700 faculty members teach and conduct research in 19 departments. They are: Aerospace Engineering; Agricultural Engineering; Architecture and Town Planning; Biology; Biomedical Engineering; Chemical Engineering; Chemistry; Civil Engineering; Computer Science; Education in Technology and Science; Electrical Engineering; Food Engineering and Biotechnology; General Studies; Industrial Engineering and Management; Materials Engineering; Mathematics; Mechanical Engineering; Medicine and Physics.

Research

Some 15 Technion Centers of Excellence are devoted to multidisciplinary research in areas essential to Israel's future scientific and technological development. Forty research centers and institutes on campus also serve as national resources.

The Technion Research and Development Foundation (TRDF) is a limited liability company wholly owned by the Technion, which is responsible for sponsored research, industrial testing and commercialization procedures for Technion know-how. Its subsidiary, Dimotech Ltd., establishes start-up companies in cooperation with industrial partners and venture capitalists from Israel and abroad.

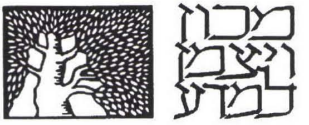
WEIZMAN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE, Rehovot
The Wix Central Library

The Weizmann Institute of Science



The Weizmann Institute of Science grew out of the Daniel Sieff Research Institute, founded in 1934. The driving force behind its establishment was the Institute's first president, Dr. Chaim Weizmann, a noted chemist who later became the first president of Israel. On November 2, 1949, with the agreement of the Sieff family, the Institute was renamed, and formally dedicated as the Weizmann Institute of Science.

The Weizmann Institute of Science is a community of 2,400 scientists, scientists-in-training, and support staff engaged in approximately 1000 projects across the spectrum of contemporary research. The 300-acre landscaped campus is located in the town of Rehovot, 22 Km south of Tel Aviv and 42 Km west of Jerusalem.

The Institute comprises five faculties – Biology, Biochemistry, Chemistry, Physics, and Mathematical Sciences, as well as the Feinberg Graduate School, which has responsibility for a Science Teaching Department and a Youth Activities Section.

The Open University of Israel

האוניברסיטה הפתוחה

The Open University of Israel is a distance education university designed to offer academic studies to students throughout Israel. Its special study method allows students all over the country to pursue a higher education, whenever and wherever convenient, without interfering with their other personal and vocational obligations. Authorized by the Israeli Council for Higher Education to confer a Bachelor's Degree, the Open University of Israel offers over 400 courses in Life Sciences, Natural Sciences, Mathematics, Computer Science, Social Sciences, Management, Psychology, Com- munications, Jewish Studies, Education, History, Literature, Music and Art.

Established in 1974 by the Ministry of Education and the Government of Israel, the University began teaching in 1976 and has an enrollment of about 30,000 students. An additional 7,500 students are enrolled in Jewish Studies in Russian in the former Soviet Union.

The Open University publishes over one half million books annually — for the use of its own students as well as students from all the other universities in Israel.

The Open University of Israel offers an intricate home study system combining expertly formulated textbooks, 1,000 tutors, over 100 study centers throughout Israel and an exacting battery of assignments and exams. The flexible method of study effectively surmounts the obstacles of distance and time, making academic studies available to additional populations hitherto prevented from studies by technical difficulties.

The University integrates various innovative technologies to enhance its teaching programs and to offer greater accessibility. The University's Center for Information Technology in Distance Education has developed the integration of state-of-the-art technology in teaching. Among the programs in this area are: interactive studies via satellite in 45 satellite-equipped centers throughout the country; teaching via computer and internet; television broadcasts via cable TV and telecourses, study packages of video (or television) series accompanied by written texts; and multimedia, computerized interactive materials on CD combining text, image, video, sound and data.

HEBREW UNION COLLEGE – JEWISH INSTITUTE OF RELIGION

Hebrew Union College was founded in Cincinnati, Ohio in 1875 and merged with the Jewish Institute of Religion (N.Y.) in 1950. The College-Institute maintains four campuses today: Cincinnati, New York, Los Angeles and Jerusalem. The Cincinnati Campus houses one of the most important Jewish libraries in the world. The Jerusalem School was established in 1963 by world renowned Biblical archaeologist Nelson Glueck, and serves as a center of scholarship in the liberal Jewish tradition:

1. The School of Jewish Studies.

a) The Year-In-Israel program is required of all first-year rabbinic, cantorial and Jewish education students enrolled in U.S. campuses. Intensive instruction in Hebrew is offered, as well as courses in Bible, Hebrew Literature, Rabbinic Liturgy, Reform Jewish Thought, Near Eastern History and Archaeology.

b) The Israel Rabbinic Program prepares Israeli Graduate Students in Jewish Studies to serve as Rabbis in Progressive congregations in Israel.

2. The Nelson Glueck School of Biblical Archaeology is a center for post-graduate study in the fields of Bible, Archaeology and History of the Holy Land:

a) Ongoing archaeological excavations at Tel Dan and Gilat attract many foreign volunteers during the summer digging season.

b) Public lecture series; publication of archaeological data from excavations.

c) Skirball Museum displays artifacts and models from sites.

3. Beit Midrash – A Reform Yeshivah.

Programs of Jewish Studies in Hebrew and English for the general public in a liberal Jewish atmosphere (co-sponsored with the World Union for Progressive Judaism).

4. Reform services in Hebrew are conducted in the College Synagogue regularly on Saturday mornings and holidays.

JDC – Brookdale Institute of Gerontology and Human Development

The JDC – Brookdale Institute in Israel is a national center for applied research on aging, health policy and social welfare. Its primary objective is to improve Israel's social welfare practice and policies by introducing more effective planning and evaluation throughout the national and local service system. An independent, non-profit organization operating as a partnership between the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee (AJJDC) and the Government of Israel, the Institute works closely with government ministries to ensure that its program is relevant to national priorities.

The contributions of JDC-Brookdale to the field of aging in Israel following its establishment in 1974 have led to the expansion of its program into additional areas high on the national agenda. In 1989, at the request of the Government of Israel and in cooperation with the Ministry of Finance and the Ministry of Health, the Institute initiated a major new programmatic thrust focused on reform of the health system.

Following the dramatic increase in the levels of immigration to Israel in the early 1990's, a program was initiated to contribute to the country's ability to successfully integrate the immigrants into Israeli society. There has been a particular focus on the large numbers of immigrants from the Former Soviet Union and the special challenges faced by the Ethiopian immigrants.

A program has also been undertaken to assess the needs of the disabled population to serve as the basis for planning and evaluating changes in the service system.

In 1995, a Center for Children and Youth was established at the Institute to promote the well-being of Jewish and Arab children and youth through a program of research, dissemination of information and knowledge, consultation to policymakers and program developers in the field, and leadership development, with a special commitment to the disadvantaged.

The Institute has five major divisions:

- Aging
- Health policy
- Immigrant absorption
- Disability
- The Center for Children and Youth

The Institute's international activities include collaborative research projects, sponsorship of multi-national conferences and forums, provision of technical assistance, and information dissemination. The Institute is a Collaborating Center for the Health of the Elderly of the World Health Organization.

The Institute operates under the auspices of the American Jewish Joint Distribution Committee. An AJJDC-Brookdale Committee, with representation from the Government of Israel, determines overall policy, reviews the program and budget, and makes recommendations to the AJJDC Board of Directors.

The Director of the Institute is responsible for overall administration. He is assisted by an executive committee of division heads and a council of senior Institute staff.

YAD VASHEM

Yad Vashem, the Holocaust Martyrs' and Heroes' Remembrance Authority, was established in 1953 by an act of the Israeli Knesset. It is entrusted with the following tasks:

- to commemorate the six million Jews murdered by the Nazis and their collaborators, the Jewish communities destroyed in an attempt to obliterate all trace of Israel, the heroic stand of the fighters and of the besieged masses in the ghettos, as well as the Righteous Among the Nations who risked their lives to save Jews.
- To gather material, to research and publicize the history of the Holocaust.
- To ensure the observance of Holocaust Martyrs' and Heroes' Remembrance Day, 27 Nissan.

Yad Vashem is situated in west Jerusalem, on Har Hazikaron (Mount of Remembrance), a continuation of Mt. Herzl. The site includes the Hall of Remembrance, Hall of Names, History Museum, Art Museum, Auditorium, Synagogue, Archives, Library, International Center for Holocaust Studies, Children's Memorial, Valley of the Communities, sculptures and monuments.

Archives – The largest and most comprehensive repository of documentary material on the Holocaust in the world, the archive contains more that 50 million pages, approximately 100,000 still photographs as well as thousands of films and videotaped testimonies of survivors. The archive is open to the public.

Library – Yad Vashem's library is the most significant library on Holocaust research in the world. It houses more than 72,000 titles in many languages and thousands of periodicals. Holdings can be accessed by the public on site, and residents of Israel are entitled to limited borrowing rights.

The International School for Holocaust Studies – the International School for Holocaust Studies offers a wide range of educational activities in several languages to students, soldiers, teachers, new immigrants, tourists and other groups. These must be arranged in advance.

The International Center for Holocaust Studies – the Center's mandate is to encourage, support and broaden research on the Holocaust in Israel and the world over. The center organizes international conferences, and publishes memoirs, diaries and research projects.

The department of the Righteous Among the Nations – this department gathers testimonies about the rescue of Jews by non-Jews during the Holocaust. The Commission for the Designation of the Righteous Among the Nations awards medals and certificates of honor to those non-Jews who for humanitarian reasons risked their lives to save Jews during the Holocaust.

The Public Relations and Commemoration department – this department organizes events and memorial ceremonies, including the opening ceremony of Holocaust Martyrs' and Heroes' Remembrance Day. The department is also responsible for arranging tours for all official state visitors and for the general public.

HISTADRUT HAOVDIM HALEUMIT (NATIONAL LABOUR FEDERATION)

The Histadrut Haovdim Haleumit, or the National Labour Federation (N.L.F.) is a non-marxist trade union organization, founded in 1934.

The N.L.F. supports the right of free professional organization and opposes unification of all trade unions in a single national federation.

It supports the establishment of a state arbitration body within the framework of national vital services to settle all labour disputes.

It opposes the establishment and ownership of economic enterprises by trade unions, while favouring, however, cooperative enterprise by workers.

It supports the transformation of health insurance into a state service.

The N.L.F. observes Labour Day on the death anniversary of Dr. Th. Herzl, flies only the blue-white flag and its sole hymn is the national anthem.

Among N.L.F. social service institutions:

Kupat Holim Leumit – the Sick Fund which provides medical care and services for about 350,000 persons in 200 branches it maintain all over the country;

The Sela Housing Company Ltd.;

The "Brion" Company Ltd. – operating vacation and recreation centres, and convalescent homes;

Hanoar Haoved Vehalomed Haleumi – the N.L.F. Youth Organization; Kupat Amal – a mutual aid fund; Insurance Fund for Building and Agricultural Workers; Leagues of Friends Abroad.

Publications: "Lapid", "Hazit Haoved".

KUPAT HOLIM LE'OVDIM LEUMIIM HEALTH INSURANCES (NATIONAL WORKERS)

This Sick Fund (in Hebrew: Kupat Holim Le'Ovdim Leumiim) was established in 1933 by the National Workers Organization, Histadrut Ovdim Leumit; but it is in fact an institution open to every Israeli citizen, irrespective which party he belongs. Among its members, Kupat Holim Leovdim Leumiim have laborers, clerks, middle class and professionals from every walk of life. KHL is organized on the principle of free choice, every patient being allowed to go to the doctor of his own preference, whether at his home, or at the official polyclinics.

Nurses of KHL are sent at request to the patient's home to take care of the illness in accordance with the doctor's provisions; whereas the doctors use to call the patient's home every time there is a need for it; the institution provides also all the drugs needed and hospitalization.

KHL renders its services in 205 branches, where populaces of over 300,000 people are taken care by the best physicians available. In addition to the dispensaries, the Sick Fund provides specialized services through a range of labs, X-Ray installations, institutions for electrophysiotherapy, rest-houses throughout the country.

The Central office of the KHL is in Tel-Aviv, 23, Sprintzak St.; P.O.B. 2209

NATIONAL INSURANCE INSTITUTE

The National Insurance Institute (NII), set up on April 1st 1954 by force of the National Insurance Law, functions as the central instrument for reducing economic gaps in the State of Israel and for securing economic protection for every resident and family in times of temporary and permanent need. The NII, which collects insurance contributions from the public and pays benefits to those entitled, thereby transfers income from well-off groups to economically weaker groups, since most benefits are paid to population groups in the lower deciles, while only a small share of benefits are paid to those in the higher deciles – despite the fact that the latter pay a higher share of contributions. In this way the NII benefits contribute to a more equitable distribution of the national income and to a reduction of the scope of poverty in Israel.

Six principal schemes are operated today by the National Insurance Institute:

a) Schemes guaranteeing long-term subsistence to those forced to leave the labor force due to age, invalidity or widowhood. These benefits assure a minimal level of income in accordance with family composition and are generally not dependent on the previous income of the entitled person.

The main benefits included in this group are old-age and survivors pensions and general disability pensions.

b) Income-replacing schemes for persons of working age who are capable of supporting themselves but, for temporary reasons, are unable to draw a reasonable income and therefore need assistance. These are mainly insurance schemes which guarantee a relatively high replacement for wages.

They cover persons on army reserve duty, persons on maternity leave, insured persons whose work is interrupted by work injury, and unemployed persons unable to find a job.

c) Income support schemes aim at guaranteeing a minimum income for every family in Israel lacking the ability to earn an income from work. These schemes include income supplement for the elderly and widows, alimony and maintenance payments and the income support benefit to residents of working age who are not able to work. These benefits are conditional on an income test, and some of them are financed by the State Treasury.

d) Children's allowances, paid directly to families with children, serve as a substitute for the credit points and deductions which had been part of the wages and taxation system prior to the tax reform of July 1975.

e) Rehabilitation schemes, for the disabled, for widows and for the elderly, aim to help the rehabilitation of these groups by a professional diagnosis of their rehabilitation potential and their direction toward finding appropriate workplaces on the free market.

f) Schemes to help those who are limited in their daily functions and assistance to the elderly aim at helping disabled children and disabled adults limited in their daily functioning to pay for the assistance they need to lead a normal life, and at providing long-term care services to the elderly who are to a large extent dependent on others for the performance of everyday functions.

In addition to paying cash benefits, the NII provides services which reflect the humanitarian and social aspects of its activities. One important such service is the Service for the Elderly and Pensioner. Furthermore, by means of special Funds, the NII initiates experimental demonstration projects in the community, aimed at developing social services new in content or in method of operation. The NII also assists in developing services for the disabled as well as services for the elderly in the community and in institutions.

The National Insurance Institute draws its income from three main sources: the collection of insurance contributions, State participation and income from investments (interest). The system of insurance and collection is based on the principle that when economically active, the insured person – and his employer — set aside a share of income as insurance contributions. By force of these payments, he "buys" his right to receive benefits which replace his wages when he finds himself in certain situations defined by law.

The social insurance branches of the National Insurance Institute are as follows:

Old-Age, Survivors, Work Injury, Accident Injuries, Maternity, Children, Unemployment, General Disability, Employees Rights in Cases of Bankruptcy and Dissolution of a Company, Reserve Service Insurance and Long-Term Care Insurance.

Other laws and agreements which are implemented by the National Insurance Institute include: Income Support Law, Hostile Action Casualties Law, Alimony Guarantee of Payments Law, Special old-age and survivors pensions for persons who are not insured under the law (such as new immigrants), allowances for Prisoners of Zion and families of executed prisoners, allowances to ensure the mobility of persons with leg injuries, payments according to international conventions with other countries, benefits for Righteous Gentiles and as of 1995, the National Health Insurance Law as well.

Moreover, the National Insurance Institute covers the costs of recuperation and hospitalization of some insured categories such as mothers after birth and injured employees; it pays medical insurance to the sick funds financed by the general revenue for the needy old aged, survivors and disabled persons with limited means of support.

The National Insurance Institute is supervised by the Minister of Labour and controlled by the State Comptroller.

The Minister is responsible for the implementation of the National Insurance Law and is authorized to make regulations accordingly. He presides over the National Insurance Council (whose 50 members are representatives of labor organizations, employers' associations, government Ministries, womens' organizations and experts in various fields). Its task is to advise the Minister with regard to issuing regulations and to prepare the Institute 's budget for his approval.

The Board of Directors is the executive authority of the Institute and its members are: the Director General, and 9 Assistant Director Generals: for Benefits, for Research and Planning, for Administration, for Finances, for Collection of Contributions and Insurance, for Budgets and Work Plans, for Special Assignments, for Telecommunications and Information Systems, for Public Appeals. The Institute is organized on a geographic basis and holds 19 main branches, 18 sub-branches and 36 offices and desks in all parts of the country, the head office being in Jerusalem.

ASSOCIATION OF LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES OF ISRAEL LTD.

In 1957, on the occasion of introducing linked life insurance, the insurance companies have concluded that for the normal activity of the companies dealing with life insurance it would be desirable to establish a special "roof company" which will represent them in various joint problems. Out of this necessity has been founded the representing society of the life insurance companies.

In 1967, as a result of the accumulated experience of the past ten years and in view of the necessities which arose during the activity, the societies arrived to the conclusion that in order to accomplish efficiently and normally the tasks of the joint interests of all the companies it is desirable to found a society with limited guarantee which will take upon itself the role of a representative society as well as of supplementary duties arising from the development of the life insurance sector in Israel. This society took shape under the name of "Association of Life Insurance Companies of Israel Ltd.", its share-holders being all the Israeli companies working in life insurance.

One of the important rules guiding the societies in establishing the joint roof-society was that this frame will comprise exclusively Israeli societies. The directors of life insurance companies have considered in the past and continue to consider the field of life insurance not only as a commercial factor but also as a sector strictly linked-up with the national economy of Israel and as an auxiliary branch of the national budget through productive investments, and various insurance-projects of a social and economic aspect, thus offering a ferm economic foundation and a full security for the money of the assured people.

The Association of Life Insurance Companies of Israel Ltd. acting as mentioned above on a basis of shares distributed among the companies united in the Association (all the 20 Israeli companies working in life insurance) is conducted by a management elected by the share-holders.

In all problems of life insurance the Association represents the companies before the government, the economic and public bodies as well as before the public.

Inter alia the Association deals with the performance of the companies' investments which are continuously increasing concomitant with the growth of the branch, the control of tariffs, the preparation of various insurance projects, public relations, research, promoting the consciousness of life insurance in order to enlarge the circle of the assured people, planification, training professional ethics and all the joint interests of the companies, in all branches and business.

ISRAEL INSURANCE ASSOCIATION

The Israel Insurance Association has been established in 1949 with the aim to create an authoritative representative body of the insurance companies operating in Israel, in face of the need to handle common and vital issues, concerning the insurance business as a whole, in its relations with Government and various other authorities, as well as towards parallel foreign institutions ,in everything concerning problems like tariffs policy, insurance conditions, etc.

The Association now encompasses 22 Insurance Companies, Israeli and foreign, as far as they handle any kind of insurance, except Life Insurance. The Association includes a Pool for Compulsory Insurance dealing with motor vehicles of undesirable risks. Incorporated in the Association is the Israel Green Card Bureau providing Motor Insurance Cover for incoming and outgoing tourists. The Association operates further an Insurance Institute, which is instrumental in training, and holding special courses in all insurance branches.

Rotem Amfert Negev Ltd. רותם אמפרט נגב בע"מ

Rotem Amfert Negev is an integrated, multinational phosphate group manufacturing and marketing a comprehensive range of products based on phosphate rock as raw material and leading to downstream derivatives including phosphoric acid, fertilizers, specialty chemicals and phosphate salts.

Formed through a merger of Negev Phosphates Ltd. and the Rotem-Amfert Group in 1991, Rotem Amfert Negev is solidly based on the strengths of Israel's valuable natural resources (Negev phosphate rock is complemented by nearby supplies of Dead Sea potash), combined with world-renowned expertise in agriculture and extensive capabilities in international production, logistics, marketing and distribution.

Strategic Acquisitions and Diversification

The Group's development program focuses on the rationalization of the production lines, marketing and distribution, along with dynamic diversification into value-added downstream and environment friendly products.

Early 1996 saw acquisition from Hoechst of BK Ladenburg. In January of 1997 BK merged with Giulini Chemie, a subsidiary of ICL. The merger is a European manufacturer and international supplier with established marketing subsidiaries, mainly serving the food processing, paper and industrial/civic water treatment industries with sophisticated specialty chemicals and phosphate salts product.

The Group has ownership in a strategic network of European companies, including production plants in Holland, Germany, Belgium and France. One of these, the Nutrisi joint venture with the Chilean SQM, produces environment friendly NPK fully soluble low residue fertilizers to meet the rapidly rising ecological standards demanded in developed countries.

In 1994 the Group purchased Penngar in France, manufacturer of detergents for the dairy products industry and a consumer of Rotem Amfert Negev's technical grade phosphoric acid in its production processes.

Massive Production and Export Tonnage

In 1997 Rotem Amfert Negev recorded sales of about $720 million, with 95% representing exports. Rotem's products are comprised of 1.8 million tpa of fertilizers, 540,000 tpa of P205 fertilizer grade phosphoric acid, 110,00 tpa (as P205) of food grade phosphoric acid, 4 million tpa of phosphate rock, 50,000 tpa MKP (monopotassium phosphate), and 12,000 tpa of liquid detergents for the dairy products industry.

The Group is an important supplier of phosphate fertilizers to Europe and the Mediterrnanean Basin, along with increasing exports to the USA, India and Latin America.

Comprehensive Logistics Network

The Group's worldwide operations are integrated and synchronized to maximize flexibility and quick market response. From phosphate rock mined in the Negev desert and beneficiated at the Zin, Oron and Rotem plants, through to production of downstream products at the Rotem and European plants, bulk orders are transported to one of the Group's modern storage and loading terminals. Orders are then shipped via Negev Star (a partnership with Zim Lines) through ports at Ashdod in the Mediterranean Sea, Eilat on the Red Sea, or through Amsterdam.

The Group's European production plants in Holland on the North Sea Canal and in the German industrial port area of Ludwigshafen, serve as convenient distribution points, via rail-cars, trucks, coasters, barges and ocean-going vessels.

Spacious warehouses in Israel and Europe, together with fully-linked sales offices worldwide, plus a network of terminal facilities around the world ensure that the Group's logistics system is ready to meet each customer's special requirements.

Development Strategy for the Future

Emphasis on highly personalized, customized service to manufacturers and formulators has grown together with Rotem Amfert Negev's increasing involvement in the marketing/distribution programs of its recent acquisitions. R&D projects incorporate customers' industrial needs while maximizing use of raw materials and by-products.

The majority of Rotem Amfert Negev plants have already achieved ISO 9001 or ISO 9002 certification.

IAI ISRAEL AIRCRAFT INDUSTRIES LTD

Israel Aircraft Industries (IAI) is a world leader in defense and civil aerospace technology. Established in 1953 IAI has played an integral role in the emergence of Israel, currently celebrating its 50th anniversary, as a regional superpower. The company has supplied the IDF with unique and cost effective solutions for a broad spectrum of needs in the air, on land and at sea. IAI has also channeled its versatility and innovativeness into space technology and the adaptation of its systems for the civilian market. Sales climbed to $1.691 billion in 1997 of which nearly 80% represented exports to 80 countries worldwide, and nearly 40% was in sales to the civilian sector.

Global Leader in Advanced Technologies

With a highly motivated work force of 14,000, of whom one third are engineers and academics. IAI has acquired a reputation as one of the most advanced aerospace enterprises worldwide by combining traditional aeronautical skills with high-tech knowhow. Such technologies as unmanned air-vehicles, early warning systems, anti-tactical ballistic missiles, space satellites and launchers, defense electronics, smart weapons systems, optronic payloads and point defense systems have earned the company an international reputation for ingenuity and dependability. IAI has ISO 9001 certification and its products and technologies are fully backed by Integrated Logistic Support (ILS), training and complete after-sales service.

Recent successes include:

- The launching of AMOS, Israel's first commercial communications satellite, which provides services over the Middle East and Central Europe.
- Ongoing development and resting of the Arrow, the world's first anti-tactical ballistic missile.
- Upgrading and modernization of 48 F-5 aircraft for the Turkish Air Force at a cost of $75 million. IAI is already upgrading 54 Phantom jets for the Turkish Air Force. The project is worth $632 million.
- Five percent of F151 aircraft manufactured by Boeing receive IAI structural subassemblies such as vertical stabilizers cockpit side panels and conformal fuel tanks. IAI is now Boeing's third largest supplier.

Emphasis on the Civilian Sector

The diversification from military to civilian applications includes:

- Certification to provide repair, overhaul and maintenance work on airbus aircraft and to convert Boeing and airbus aircraft from passenger to cargo carriers.
- Serial production of business jets including the Galaxy, a midsize aircraft which was rolled out in September 1997 just eight months after full scale production began and the first flight took place in December 1997. These aircraft will be marketed by Galaxy Aerospace Corp., a joint venture between IAI and the US Hyatt Corp.
- Reapplication of airborne and groundbome unmanned systems for law enforcement missions; the Eye View, an unmanned aerial vehicle for military and paramilitary day and night missions.

IAI consists of four independent operating groups:

- Bedek Aviation Group - provides total aircraft engine and component repair, overhaul, retrofit, modification, conversion and support services to airlines and leasing companies. The Ramta division of Bedek designs and produces fighting and support vehicles, minefield breaching equipment, fast patrol boats, unmanned ground vehicles and composite aircraft structures.
- Electronics Group - specializes in electronics, optronic and inertial systems and components for military and commercial applications. Among these products are radar missiles, EW, ELINT/ESM, COMINTICOMJAM and SICINT.
- Military Aircraft Group - develops and manufactures unmanned air vehicles (UAV), integrates and upgrades military aircraft; designs and manufactures helicopter structures, electrical harnesses and crash attenuating aircraft seats.
- Commercial Aircraft Group - engages in the design, testing, certification and production of civil aircraft; hydraulic, electro-mechanical and pneumatic components; dynamic systems: composite material structures all backed by full computer-aided design, engineering and manufacturing processes.

Two corporate units are the MHT Division for provision of custom, multilingual technical publications and training services, and the MAMAN Division for operating and maintaining software for IAI's vast scope of activities.

Developing New Markets

New product areas of excellence such as UAV's, antiballistic missile defense systems, advanced civilian jets and electronics gathering systems will maintain IAI's leading edge capability into the 21st century.

Line of Business:

Defense and commercial products and services, incorporating development, manufacture, overhaul, upgrading, repair and maintenance of a broad range of systems including aircraft and aerospace equipment, electronic systems, avionics suites, advanced radar, tactical weaponry, medical diagnostic equipment and law enforcement systems.
